Terms Are Agreed on Release

Geneva, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States and China reached final agreement today on the release of American civilians held in China.

The agreement was reached at the 14th meeting between U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-man.

A Chinese spokesman said after the meeting negotiations on the question of detained civilians had been concluded and the talks would continue on the second item of the agenda.

DETAILS of the agreement are to be disclosed jointly by the two sides at 4 p. m. (11 a. m. EST) in what an American spokesman described as a "substantial announcement."

The two ambassadors, who have been meeting at intervals since Aug. 1, agreed to meet again Wednesday morning.

Under a previous understanding, settlement of the question of detained civilians would automatically take the talks to the other item of the agenda: "Other practical matters at issue between the two sides."

The Chinese have been anxious since the talks opened to reach item 2, under which they might bring up anything from increased trade with the west to a Formosa settlement or admission to the United Nations.

A SIMILAR delayed announcement at the end of the last meeting of the two ambassadors on Sept. 6 reported Chinese readiness to let 12 civilians go home, the first positive result of the talks which opened Aug. 1.

Johnson, American ambassador to Czechoslovakia, and Wang, Chinese ambassador to Poland, held their 14th meeting today. The only subject of discussion so far has been "the return of civilians of both sides to their respective countries." Johnson has told Wang Chinese students in the United States are free to return to Communist China if they wish.

Johnson originally presented Wang a list of some 40 Americans in prison, under house arrest or denied exit permits. The exact number involved fluctuated from time to time as the circumstances of the persons concerned changed or they changed their minds on whether to leave China or not.

NONE OF the 12 persons the Chinese said Tuesday they were willing to release was imprisoned or under house arrest. Two of them, Wang said, had not applied for exit permits. The issue was now narrowed down essentially to the release of 25 Americans in prison and three others under house arrest.

The two ambassadors agreed today to meet again on Wednesday. Johnson previously told Wang that only after the civilians are released will he agree to discuss the other item on the agenda of the talks, "other practical matters at issue between the two sides."

Check Car Fire

Firemen from Central Station extinguished an automobile fire at 12:27 a. m., today near 442 Broadway. The report said the radiator of a 1947 sedan owned by Roland Clere of Colonial Gardens had been filled by mistake with gasoline instead of water. The motor became overheated, ignited the fan belt and wiring beneath the dashboard, blistering the paint on the hood and a front fender.

Mrs. Atteberry will prepare for a teaching career which she hopes will help finance the educations of her three younger children. (AP Wirephoto).

Pressure Ike for Answer

State Leaders Think He'll Help Tickets

Denver, Sept. 9 (AP)—Republican state chairmen built up pressure today on President Eisenhower for an early second-term announcement they said will help them get better GOP candidates in state and national races.

In advance of a breakfast conference with the President (8 a. m., MST) the GOP chairmen who flew here last night from Washington were unanimous in expressing belief that Eisenhower will run again.

THE PRESIDENT himself has left this question up in the air with a declaration that the condition of his health and the state of the world and the nation will determine his decision at the proper time.

White House aides said in advance that Eisenhower would outline his views on major issues for the next presidential campaign at the breakfast meeting.

Before they left Washington, the chairmen sent Eisenhower a message saying they were "looking forward to supporting you again in 1956" and adding: "We like Ike better than ever."

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN Leonard W. Hall told a news conference here last night he looks for the same ticket as in 1952, including Vice President Nixon. He said he thinks Eisenhower "will beat any Democratic nominee (in 1956) by a greater margin than he did in 1952."

Hall said it appears to him that Gov. Averell Harriman of New York is "coming forth

California Fire Under Control Now

San Francisco, Sept. 10 (AP)—Firefighters appear to be getting the upper hand today on a dangerous brush fire near Santa Barbara as other points in this fire-ravaged state also turned more optimistic.

The Santa Barbara fire has threatened 20 cattle ranches in the area, but the firemen—including 500 marines—concentrated along a seven-mile line and aided by fog and rising humidity, appeared to be winning.

"THE FIRE is not running now and there does not seem to be any immediate danger of a breakthrough," Bruce Barron of the U. S. Forest Service reported.

The area where firemen concentrated was between the Alisal Guest Ranch and Nojoqui Fall State Park.

A total of 2,000 men were fighting the blaze which has swept over 70,000 acres of brush and timber. Nolan O'Neal, fire control officer, estimated damage to the watershed at more than five million dollars.

FIREMEN PLANNED to try out 3,000 gallons of a chemical fire retardant today. One officer said the fluid would be getting its first real test under real forest fire conditions. The retardant is sprayed from pressure tanks as a foam ex-

Authority To Discuss N-B Ferry

Questions referred to the New York State Bridge Authority by State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield, of Poughkeepsie, in conjunction with continued operation of the Newburgh-Beacon ferry, will be discussed at the next meeting of the authority, it was indicated today.

The questions are based largely on the proposal that the authority take over operation of the ferry until a bridge over the Hudson at Newburgh is completed.

EFFORTS are in progress also to get the present owners of the ferry, Homer Ramsdell and Mrs. Pauline R. O'Dell, to continue operation until next February, but no definite decision has been given, to date, on that.

Senator Hatfield asks the authority to forward information on whether facilities in use are considered still serviceable, and if so, what would be their price.

He also asks details as to enabling legislation and appropriations, how long before a Newburgh-Beacon bridge would be completed, and could this construction be speeded by legislation.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, desire this information, Hatfield said, and show "willingness to take any legislative action, which is feasible and practical to keep the ferry for the people of the area until the bridge is completed."

KINGSTON'S bridge is due to be finished in November, 1956, and the ferry service here after that time will no longer be necessary.

It was announced last month that owners of the Newburgh-Beacon ferry had planned to stop operating by Sept. 1, but they agreed to continue after a recent meeting in Albany. They did not indicate definitely, however whether they would continue until the state legislature meets in January.

The bridge authority has set no definite date for a meeting this month.

Too Late on Firing: Truman

MacArthur Stalled By Chinese, He Says

Chicago, Sept. 10 (AP)—Former President Truman says he wishes he had fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur two years sooner.

That, he said, is the only "repentance" he has had for removing MacArthur as supreme commander in Korea on April 11, 1951.

The 71-year-old Truman, who recently canceled two California speeches, reportedly because of his health, made the statement in a question-and-answer period following an address before the Executives Club of Chicago yesterday.

The former President fired MacArthur on grounds he was "unable to give wholehearted support" to the policies of the United Nations and the Truman administration in the conduct of the Korean war.

A QUESTIONER asked why United Nations forces in Korea did not drive to the Yalu river "as MacArthur said they could" instead of halting at the 38th Parallel.

"MacArthur never was ordered to stop at the 38th Parallel," Truman retorted. "There were a million and a half Chinese between him and the Yalu river and he couldn't get through them."

UN forces had reached the Yalu earlier in the war, only to

UNESCO Is Not Red, Says Legion

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—A special American Legion committee has termed "utterly without foundation" charges that the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is communistic.

Summarizing an 18-month investigation of the controversial UN affiliate, the six-member group said in its report:

UNESCO IS NOT favorable toward world government . . . is not atheistic and . . . is in no sense or degree communistic."

The special group thus placed itself at odds with the Legion's Americanism Commission which has said it has evidence there are a number of Communist sympathizers in UNESCO.

The 40,000-word report was made last May 5 to the Legion's National Executive Committee which 11 months ago refused 51-6 to send a representative to the U. S. Commission for UNESCO. A printed copy of the report became available today.

The report is destined for submission to the Legion's national convention in Miami, Fla., Oct. 10-13 where it may stir up a fight over acceptance or rejection.

Adenauer Is Silent On Session

Bulganin Warns On Demand Stand

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

Moscow, Sept. 10 (AP)—West Germany reiterated emphatically today in a stormy session with Soviet leaders that it would not establish diplomatic relations with Russia until the German prisoner of war question is settled.

Heinrich Von Brentano, West German foreign minister, stated the German position anew in a meeting at Spiridonovka Palace that lasted more than three hours.

WEST GERMAN Chancellor Konrad Adenauer emerged grim-faced from the working session, without comment.

Von Brentano spoke after Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin said the Soviet Union is not holding any German prisoners of war but has in its custody 9,626 "war criminals whose sentencing was a humanitarian act."

The positions of the two governments after today's session was announced at a news conference presided over by Leonid Ilyichev, Soviet foreign office press officer.

Bulganin set the tone of the opening working meeting when he warned by implication that Germany should not attempt to bargain from a position of strength.

"IF SOMEONE speaks from such a position," he was quoted as saying, "there is no sense in negotiations here."

Adenauer was then reported to have answered that no one in West Germany would think of speaking with such a great power as the Soviet Union from a position of strength.

Bulganin then emphasized again the Soviet stand that German reunification is a question for the German people themselves.

The Russians have also been insisting that an exchange of ambassadors with West Germany should be the first step in the new relationship. Adenauer's position from the first has been that the war prisoners return must be negotiated as a first step.

MEMBERS of the West German delegation said there would not be another session today.

Adenauer was scheduled to go sightseeing this afternoon.

Diplomatic circles expected the West German chancellor to give a polite but firm no to Russian suggestions for an imme-

General's Injury Is Kept Secret

Orange, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Brig. Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf is in "satisfactory" condition in Orange Memorial Hospital today with a shoulder injury he received under seemingly mysterious circumstances.

Schwarzkopf, the founder of the New Jersey state police in 1921 and presently administrative director of the N. J. Department of Law and Public Safety, had driven to a drugstore a mile from his Maplewood home Thursday night to seek medical aid, according to police.

But neither police nor the hospital would comment on how

No Major Change in Defense Spending

Amount to Be Up to 35 Billion, Radford Office Declares After Slip

Denver, Sept. 10 (AP)—Despite an apparent slip of the tongue on figures by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, his office says no major change in defense spending now is planned.

Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, himself said as much yesterday after conferring with President Eisenhower. He created a bit of confusion, however, by mentioning a figure of $37,750,000,000 for the current basic military program. At another point he indicated to newsmen that he expects the total to be between 34 and 35 billion.

To questions raised after Radford had departed, his office said the admiral meant what he said in stating no major change was in prospect.

After an hour-long conference with Eisenhower, Radford told newsmen that from a national security standpoint the United States "was never better off." He said he and the President discussed national security problems, including military spending.

His remarks on the security picture were in response to a request for comment on former President Truman's assertion that "the cuts in our ground forces are unjustified and most dangerous at this time."

Truman set forth his views in a Chicago speech yesterday. He said the Eisenhower administration has cut the military establishment below goals fixed by the Truman administration, "but it still represents very great military strength."

Radford commented that he knew of no Pentagon action to warrant a contention that dangerous defense spending cuts have been made. To which Truman rejoined in Chicago that the admiral "would know about it if he read the newspapers."

Radford also told newsmen:

"I think we have a very sound military program. From the standpoint of security, I think the country never was better off."

Radford then went on to cause some confusion by saying "there will be no changes in the basic military program" during the fiscal year which started July 1. He added that the program calls for $37,750,000,000 in defense spending.

Apparently his use of that figure was a slip of the tongue because the Eisenhower administration's January budget called for only $35,750,000,000 of such spending.

And Radford himself, in talking to reporters here, indicated that he looks for a total spending to be somewhat less than 35 billion dollars but more than 34 billion.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, indicated there may be some defense cuts, however.

In a speech last night to the annual convention in Atlantic City, N. J., of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, Bridges promised he would "press for further reductions in some phases of our defense program during the coming session of Congress."

Bridges said the nation has has been and will continue to

$50,000 Awaits Miss America

Six Prelim Winners Hold Lead for Judging Tonight

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Selection of the 1956 Miss America—heiress to a $50,000 jackpot of prizes and personal appearances—will be made late tonight by a team of 11 judges.

Six preliminary winners held a commanding lead today as the beauty contest moved into the final stage.

The judges' decision, expected about midnight (EDT), will end a tense, exciting week for the 49 contestants from 45 states, Chicago, District of Columbia, Hawaii and Canada.

The new Miss America, to replace 1955 winner, Miss Lee Ann Meriwether of San Francisco, will be selected on the basis of beauty, talent and personality.

Three nights of preliminary judging have brought valuable point honors to these winners:

Swim Suit Division—Barbara Mamo Vieira, a tall, tanned Honolulu hula dancer entered as Miss Hawaii; Ann Campbell, a 21-year-old Oklahoma City art student; and a petite 18-year-old blue-eyed blonde, Clara Faye Arnold of Raleigh, North Carolina.

Talent Division—Soprano Patricia Byrd Huddleston, hazel-eyed southern belle from Clanton, Alabama; honey blonde Sandra Wirth of Miami, Fla., a Baton twirler; and drama student Virginia E. Maffucci of Watertown, Mass.

Legal Action Halted

Stevedores Given Chance To Resume Work Monday

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Legal punches aimed at striking longshoremen in the huge port of New York have been stayed over the weekend to give the dockers a chance to go back on the piers.

Meanwhile, sympathy work stoppages threatening to embroil all east coast ports were on the wane.

Called off yesterday were walkouts in Boston and Providence, R. I.

The stevedores in those cities were ordered back to work today.

Piers were back to normal yesterday in Philadelphia and Baltimore after one day of idleness.

However, longshore meetings yesterday at Norfolk, Va., tied up 11 ships there. And the walkout continues at Port Newark, Bayonne, Jersey City and Hoboken in New Jersey.

Some 70 cargo ships lay immobilized in New York harbor, with perishable cargo piling up on the docks at the rate of 20 million dollars' worth a day. Shipping firms estimate they are losing a million dollars daily in business diverted to other ports.

Railroads are considering an embargo of all shipments to the

BULGANIN THE HOST—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, right, motions West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to his seat at the conference table in the Spiridonovka Palace in Moscow, Russia, Sept. 9. Meeting was the first between West German leaders and the Soviet Union. Adenauer, at the meeting, set an agreement on release of German war prisoners held by Russia as part of his price for establishment of formal relations between his government and the Soviet Union. Too Late on Firing: Truman

MacArthur Stalled By Chinese, He Says

Chicago, Sept. 10 (AP)—Former President Truman says he wishes he had fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur two years sooner.

That, he said, is the only "repentance" he has had for removing MacArthur as supreme commander in Korea on April 11, 1951.

The 71-year-old Truman, who recently canceled two California speeches, reportedly because of his health, made the statement in a question-and-answer period following an address before the Executives Club of Chicago yesterday.

The former President fired MacArthur on grounds he was "unable to give wholehearted support" to the policies of the United Nations and the Truman administration in the conduct of the Korean war.

A QUESTIONER asked why United Nations forces in Korea did not drive to the Yalu river "as MacArthur said they could" instead of halting at the 38th Parallel.

"MacArthur never was ordered to stop at the 38th Parallel," Truman retorted. "There were a million and a half Chinese between him and the Yalu river and he couldn't get through them."

UN forces had reached the Yalu earlier in the war, only to

UNESCO Is Not Red, Says Legion

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—A special American Legion committee has termed "utterly without foundation" charges that the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is communistic.

Summarizing an 18-month investigation of the controversial UN affiliate, the six-member group said in its report:

UNESCO IS NOT favorable toward world government . . . is not atheistic and . . . is in no sense or degree communistic."

The special group thus placed itself at odds with the Legion's Americanism Commission which has said it has evidence there are a number of Communist sympathizers in UNESCO.

The 40,000-word report was made last May 5 to the Legion's National Executive Committee which 11 months ago refused 51-6 to send a representative to the U. S. Commission for UNESCO. A printed copy of the report became available today.

The report is destined for submission to the Legion's national convention in Miami, Fla., Oct. 10-13 where it may stir up a fight over acceptance or rejection.

Seaborn Collins, the Legion's national commander, was out of

Adenauer Is Silent On Session

Bulganin Warns On Demand Stand

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

Moscow, Sept. 10 (AP)—West Germany reiterated emphatically today in a stormy session with Soviet leaders that it would not establish diplomatic relations with Russia until the German prisoner of war question is settled.

Heinrich Von Brentano, West German foreign minister, stated the German position anew in a meeting at Spiridonovka Palace that lasted more than three hours.

WEST GERMAN Chancellor Konrad Adenauer emerged grim-faced from the working session, without comment.

Von Brentano spoke after Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin said the Soviet Union is not holding any German prisoners of war but has in its custody 9,626 "war criminals whose sentencing was a humanitarian act."

The positions of the two governments after today's session was announced at a news conference presided over by Leonid Ilyichev, Soviet foreign office press officer.

Bulganin set the tone of the opening working meeting when he warned by implication that Germany should not attempt to bargain from a position of strength.

"IF SOMEONE speaks from such a position," he was quoted as saying, "there is no sense in negotiations here."

Adenauer was then reported to have answered that no one in West Germany would think of speaking with such a great power as the Soviet Union from a position of strength.

Bulganin then emphasized again the Soviet stand that German reunification is a question for the German people themselves.

The Russians have also been insisting that an exchange of ambassadors with West Germany should be the first step in the new relationship. Adenauer's position from the first has been that the war prisoners return must be negotiated as a first step.

MEMBERS of the West German delegation said there would not be another session today.

Adenauer was scheduled to go sightseeing this afternoon.

Diplomatic circles expected the West German chancellor to give a polite but firm no to Russian suggestions for an imme-

General's Injury Is Kept Secret

Orange, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Brig. Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf is in "satisfactory" condition in Orange Memorial Hospital today with a shoulder injury he received under seemingly mysterious circumstances.

Schwarzkopf, the founder of the New Jersey state police in 1921 and presently administrative director of the N. J. Department of Law and Public Safety, had driven to a drugstore a mile from his Maplewood home Thursday night to seek medical aid, according to police.

But neither police nor the hospital would comment on how

No Major Change in Defense Spending

Amount to Be Up to 35 Billion, Radford Office Declares After Slip

Denver, Sept. 10 (AP)—Despite an apparent slip of the tongue on figures by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, his office says no major change in defense spending now is planned.

Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, himself said as much yesterday after conferring with President Eisenhower. He created a bit of confusion, however, by mentioning a figure of $37,750,000,000 for the current basic military program. At another point he indicated to newsmen that he expects the total to be between 34 and 35 billion.

To questions raised after Radford had departed, his office said the admiral meant what he said in stating no major change was in prospect.

After an hour-long conference with Eisenhower, Radford told newsmen that from a national security standpoint the United States "was never better off." He said he and the President discussed national security problems, including military spending.

His remarks on the security picture were in response to a request for comment on former President Truman's assertion that "the cuts in our ground forces are unjustified and most dangerous at this time."

Truman set forth his views in a Chicago speech yesterday. He said the Eisenhower administration has cut the military establishment below goals fixed by the Truman administration, "but it still represents very great military strength."

Radford commented that he knew of no Pentagon action to warrant a contention that dangerous defense spending cuts have been made. To which Truman rejoined in Chicago that the admiral "would know about it if he read the newspapers."

Radford also told newsmen:

"I think we have a very sound military program. From the standpoint of security, I think the country never was better off."

Radford then went on to cause some confusion by saying "there will be no changes in the basic military program" during the fiscal year which started July 1. He added that the program calls for $37,750,000,000 in defense spending.

Apparently his use of that figure was a slip of the tongue because the Eisenhower administration's January budget called for only $35,750,000,000 of such spending.

And Radford himself, in talking to reporters here, indicated that he looks for a total spending to be somewhat less than 35 billion dollars but more than 34 billion.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, indicated there may be some defense cuts, however.

In a speech last night to the annual convention in Atlantic City, N. J., of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, Bridges promised he would "press for further reductions in some phases of our defense program during the coming session of Congress."

Bridges said the nation has has been and will continue to

$50,000 Awaits Miss America

Six Prelim Winners Hold Lead for Judging Tonight

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Selection of the 1956 Miss America—heiress to a $50,000 jackpot of prizes and personal appearances—will be made late tonight by a team of 11 judges.

Six preliminary winners held a commanding lead today as the beauty contest moved into the final stage.

The judges' decision, expected about midnight (EDT), will end a tense, exciting week for the 49 contestants from 45 states, Chicago, District of Columbia, Hawaii and Canada.

The new Miss America, to replace 1955 winner, Miss Lee Ann Meriwether of San Francisco, will be selected on the basis of beauty, talent and personality.

Three nights of preliminary judging have brought valuable point honors to these winners:

Swim Suit Division—Barbara Mamo Vieira, a tall, tanned Honolulu hula dancer entered as Miss Hawaii; Ann Campbell, a 21-year-old Oklahoma City art student; and a petite 18-year-old blue-eyed blonde, Clara Faye Arnold of Raleigh, North Carolina.

Talent Division—Soprano Patricia Byrd Huddleston, hazel-eyed southern belle from Clanton, Alabama; honey blonde Sandra Wirth of Miami, Fla., a Baton twirler; and drama student Virginia E. Maffucci of Watertown, Mass.

Legal Action Halted

Stevedores Given Chance To Resume Work Monday

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Legal punches aimed at striking longshoremen in the huge port of New York have been stayed over the weekend to give the dockers a chance to go back on the piers.

Meanwhile, sympathy work stoppages threatening to embroil all east coast ports were on the wane.

Called off yesterday were walkouts in Boston and Providence, R. I.

The stevedores in those cities were ordered back to work today.

Piers were back to normal yesterday in Philadelphia and Baltimore after one day of idleness.

However, longshore meetings yesterday at Norfolk, Va., tied up 11 ships there. And the walkout continues at Port Newark, Bayonne, Jersey City and Hoboken in New Jersey.

Some 70 cargo ships lay immobilized in New York harbor, with perishable cargo piling up on the docks at the rate of 20 million dollars' worth a day. Shipping firms estimate they are losing a million dollars daily in business diverted to other ports.

Railroads are considering an embargo of all shipments to the

The first meeting of the Sunday school in the new semester will be held Sunday at 9:45 a. m. Methodists Will Resume Early Morning Service

The congregation of St. James Methodist Church will resume the 8:30 morning worship service beginning Sept. 11, and continuing through the remaining Sundays of Eastern Daylight Saving Time. Interruption of the early morning worship was occasioned by the vacation of the minister during August, at which time union services were held in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

The 8:30 service is arranged for the convenience of people who desire to worship before being absent from the city for the rest of the day. A fine response to this opportunity was made through June and July. It is expected that the public will continue to respond at the resumption of this worship hour.

The Sunday Church school at St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl streets, will begin sessions on Sunday, Sept. 18. It had been expected that the school would be opened Sept. 11.

A full roster of classes for children and adults will be presented at the 9:45 session with provision for the children of parents who desire to attend the morning worship at 11 a. m.

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

THE LAME MESSENGER

The other day I came upon this sentence of wise counsel in George Herbert's "Jacula Prudentum": "Stay till the lame messenger comes, if you will know the truth of the thing."

How much trouble we could avoid; how many losses we could prevent; and how much embarrassment we could save ourselves—if we were only wise enough not to believe all that the first nimble messenger tells us. So often we jump at conclusions before we know the real facts. And then we pounce on somebody who is, in reality, not to blame; and make a general fool of ourselves. Then, after a while, the lame messenger comes hobbling in with the true facts. When he arrives we feel like copying the ostrich and hidding our faces in the sand. We are so sorry, then, for what we have said and done in haste—some of it starkly irreparable. For apologies cover only little corners of our past folly; they never come anywhere near accomplishing the task of restoring any situation or relationship to the condition that existed before we blundered.

Many a person has made the mistake of giving someone a good tongue lashing, based on the sketchy gossip of the nimble messenger, only to find out—when the lame messenger arrived—that the fast messenger with the healthy legs carried false news. Many a friendship has been ruined permanently, many a marriage has gone on the rocks, many a folly has been committed because men and women have been quick to assume that the nimble messenger carried "the gospel truth." If only they had "sat tight" until they had in their hands the real facts which the less agile courier was bringing! If only they had been wise enough to wait for him!

Some way gossip and destructive half-truths always seem to have far better transportation facilities available to them than are ever available to truth and established fact. Gossip and half-truths travel in sound-barrier-breaking jets; facts and truth by slow, limping messengers. As Mark Twain used to say: "A lie can travel around the world while the truth is lacing up its boots."

If we only would remember the speed with which lies and gossip get around and the fact that truth must even wait for the lame messenger to get his boots laced up, our lives would be far happier—and this would be a lot better world. Let's all try!

Centenary Mass For Founder of House of Calvary

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, will celebrate a centenary Mass marking the 100th birthday of Mrs. Catherine Cecilia Minford McParlan, founder and administrator of the House of Calvary, 1600 McCombs road, Bronx, at 8 a. m., Sunday, Sept. 11. The Mass will be offered in the chapel of the home and hospital for the cancerous poor and His Eminence will attend a breakfast in her honor following the Mass.

MRS. McPARLAN has spent the last 55 years of her life caring for incurable cancer patients. In 1895 she ended one life and began another of dedicated service to the sick poor. A double tragedy, the death of her husband in November, 1895, followed five months later by the loss of her only child, led her along the path of her future life work with the Women of Calvary, an association of Catholic widows which had been founded in 1894 by Mrs. Anne Blount Storrs, a convert to Roman Catholocism. She thus became one of the first 12 Women of Calvary in the Archdiocese of New York, a group who devoted their lives to incurable cancer patients. She is the sole survivor of the original 12 women.

The House of Calvary presently accommodates 146 indigent cancer patients and is one of the five special hospitals in the archdiocese affiliated with New York Catholic Charities. Through the years it has cared for over 15,000 cancer patients of all races, religions and creeds. The youngest patient was a four-year-old girl; the oldest a 98-year-old Jewish man.

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

THE LAME MESSENGER

The other day I came upon this sentence of wise counsel in George Herbert's "Jacula Prudentum": "Stay till the lame messenger comes, if you will know the truth of the thing."

How much trouble we could avoid; how many losses we could prevent; and how much embarrassment we could save ourselves—if we were only wise enough not to believe all that the first nimble messenger tells us. So often we jump at conclusions before we know the real facts. And then we pounce on somebody who is, in reality, not to blame; and make a general fool of ourselves. Then, after a while, the lame messenger comes hobbling in with the true facts. When he arrives we feel like copying the ostrich and hidding our faces in the sand. We are so sorry, then, for what we have said and done in haste—some of it starkly irreparable. For apologies cover only little corners of our past folly; they never come anywhere near accomplishing the task of restoring any situation or relationship to the condition that existed before we blundered.

Many a person has made the mistake of giving someone a good tongue lashing, based on the sketchy gossip of the nimble messenger, only to find out—when the lame messenger arrived—that the fast messenger with the healthy legs carried false news. Many a friendship has been ruined permanently, many a marriage has gone on the rocks, many a folly has been committed because men and women have been quick to assume that the nimble messenger carried "the gospel truth." If only they had "sat tight" until they had in their hands the real facts which the less agile courier was bringing! If only they had been wise enough to wait for him!

Some way gossip and destructive half-truths always seem to have far better transportation facilities available to them than are ever available to truth and established fact. Gossip and half-truths travel in sound-barrier-breaking jets; facts and truth by slow, limping messengers. As Mark Twain used to say: "A lie can travel around the world while the truth is lacing up its boots."

If we only would remember the speed with which lies and gossip get around and the fact that truth must even wait for the lame messenger to get his boots laced up, our lives would be far happier—and this would be a lot better world. Let's all try!

Methodists Will Resume Early Morning Service

The congregation of St. James Methodist Church will resume the 8:30 morning worship service beginning Sept. 11, and continuing through the remaining Sundays of Eastern Daylight Saving Time. Interruption of the early morning worship was occasioned by the vacation of the minister during August, at which time union services were held in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

The 8:30 service is arranged for the convenience of people who desire to worship before being absent from the city for the rest of the day. A fine response to this opportunity was made through June and July. It is expected that the public will continue to respond at the resumption of this worship hour.

The Sunday Church school at St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl streets, will begin sessions on Sunday, Sept. 18. It had been expected that the school would be opened Sept. 11.

A full roster of classes for children and adults will be presented at the 9:45 session with provision for the children of parents who desire to attend the morning worship at 11 a. m.

Centenary Mass For Founder of House of Calvary

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, will celebrate a centenary Mass marking the 100th birthday of Mrs. Catherine Cecilia Minford McParlan, founder and administrator of the House of Calvary, 1600 McCombs road, Bronx, at 8 a. m., Sunday, Sept. 11. The Mass will be offered in the chapel of the home and hospital for the cancerous poor and His Eminence will attend a breakfast in her honor following the Mass.

MRS. McPARLAN has spent the last 55 years of her life caring for incurable cancer patients. In 1895 she ended one life and began another of dedicated service to the sick poor. A double tragedy, the death of her husband in November, 1895, followed five months later by the loss of her only child, led her along the path of her future life work with the Women of Calvary, an association of Catholic widows which had been founded in 1894 by Mrs. Anne Blount Storrs, a convert to Roman Catholicism. She thus became one of the first 12 Women of Calvary in the Archdiocese of New York, a group who devoted their lives to incurable cancer patients. She is the sole survivor of the original 12 women.

The House of Calvary presently accommodates 146 indigent cancer patients and is one of the five special hospitals in the archdiocese affiliated with New York Catholic Charities. Through the years it has cared for over 15,000 cancer patients of all races, religions and creeds. The youngest patient was a four-year-old girl; the oldest a 98-year-old Jewish man.

Baby Dies After Thruway Accident Friday Afternoon

A 15-month-old baby girl, injured in an accident on the Thruway about five miles north of Kingston shortly before noon yesterday, died at Kingston Hospital at 3:50 p. m. Friday.

Five persons, including two other children, all members of the same family, were hospitalized in the accident which took the life of Nancy Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Engel of 704 Wabash avenue, Belleville, Ill.

LISTED AS serious were Mrs. Engel, 28, and her mother, Mrs. Florence Daubach, 53. Mr. Engel, also 28, was listed as apparently fair and the two children, Diana Marie, 4½, and Kathleen Ann, 2½, as fair. All were taken to Kingston Hospital by Schultz Ambulance.

The accident occurred when a 1955 station wagon operated by Mrs. Engel attempted to pass a car operated by Anne Jacobs, 53, of Riverside Drive, New York city, and the two vehicles sideswiped each other, Thruway Police reported. Both cars were proceeding south.

THE STATION wagon went out of control, veered off the southbound lane and plunged about 30 or 40 feet down an embankment, coming to rest on its top, according to the Thruway Police.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle issued a verdict of accidental death. He said Nancy Jean died of a depressed fracture of the left frontal bone with contusions and lacerations of the brain. A contributing factor, he said, was the fracture of the left parietal occipital bone.

Mrs. Engel suffered a fractured right leg and complications due to pregnancy, Thruway Police reported. Mrs. Daubach suffered leg and back injuries.

Mr. Engel, a building contractor, was admitted to the hospital with abrasions of the right shoulder and back injuries, police said. They said the two children suffered shock.

The station wagon, which entered the Thruway at Syracuse, was described as a total wreck.

THE ACCIDENT occurred at 11:48 a. m., according to Thruway Police, at Mile Post 96.1, which is about three miles north of Ruby.

Investigating were Sgt. A. W. McDonald and Troopers M. J. Vaillant, H. C. Foster and D. A. Hoffman of the Thruway Police.

UNESCO Is Not

town and could not be reached for comment.

THE REPORT discussed more than two dozen charges against UNESCO and said it found none to be borne out by facts. Among the charges:

1. That Alger Hiss called in a Communist front organization to help the State Department plan UNESCO. Hiss is a former State Department official who served a prison term after his conviction of lying in denying he passed government secrets to a prewar Soviet spy ring. The Legion committee said "there is no record of any activity by Mr. Hiss in connection with the formation of UNESCO."

2. That the late Harry Dexter White, onetime high treasury official described by Atty. Gen. Brownell as a Russian espionage agent, gave particular attention to the establishment of UNESCO at San Francisco in 1945. The committee said a study of UNESCO documents showed the agency was not established at San Francisco, but at London, and that White had not "the remotest connection" with it.

AS FOR UNESCO publications, the report said they ranged from "the boring to . . . the interestingly informative," but were "as subversive at worst as the tales of Hans Christian Andersen."

The special committee—authorized by the 1953 and 1954 Legion conventions — said a search of 10 years of Communist Daily Worker editions turned up "surprisingly few" references to UNESCO.

Adenauer Is

diate exchange of ambassadors as a first step toward normalizing relations between the two countries.

OBSERVERS cited Adenauer's opening speech yesterday to give weight to this view. Adenauer told the Kremlin chieftains he expected the Moscow talks to be just the first of many which would lead eventually to establishment of normal relations.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev arrived at Spiridonovka Palace for today's talks three minutes ahead of Adenauer and his foreign minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Adenauer and his delegation planned strategy for the meeting aboard a German train in the railyards outside Leningrad station. They are holding their confidential talks aboard the train because of their skepticism concerning security at their Sovietskaya Hotel headquarters.

WHILE the conferees faced each other across the negotiating table in their second session, Moscow residents clustered at wallboards covered with newspapers giving the full text of Adenauer's opening statement. It was the first time most Soviet citizens had ever seen West Germany's views on the return of German war prisoners still held by the Soviets and on reunification of Germany.

The Soviet press gave the talks tremendous publicity. The first and second pages of both Pravda and Izvestia were almost entirely devoted to the conference. Both papers printed eight-column pictures of the ceremony.

State Leaders

strongly as a presidential candidate" but he "doesn't care" whom the Democrats nominate.

Although he said he expected no announcement by the President of his intentions he regards the meeting with the state chairmen as worthwhile because "whenever you meet with the President, you come away with something of value."

SOME GOP CHAIRMEN hadn't given up hope that Eisenhower would indicate by his actions, if not by his words, that he is ready to head the 1956 ticket unless there are unforseen developments.

Several state leaders said an early announcement would help them considerably in getting the election campaign under way. Several said they have found politically attractive prospects, whom they would like to have on their ticket for state and congressional offices, are declining to commit themselves to the races until they know whether the President will run again.

Awaits Discharge

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 10 (AP)—Leroy Van Camp, 43, was sent home to Blue Springs, Mo., last night, to await a discharge from the army he left without leave 20 years ago. Van Camp, a mechanic, tried to enlist. Routine questioning by a recruiting officer in Kansas City brought out the information that the man had quit his outfit without authority at Ft. Douglas, Utah, in 1935. He was taken into military custody.

MacArthur . . .

be forced back when China entered the conflict.

A MacArthur aide in New York said there would be no immediate comment from the general on Truman's remarks.

STILL PLUGGING Adlai E. Stevenson for president, Truman told a news conference that New York's Carmine DeSapio is not a "king maker" in Truman's home state of Missouri.

DeSapio, head of the New York city Democratic organization, reportedly favors Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for a presidential candidate.

Asked if he regarded DeSapio as a "king maker" — a figure powerful enough to make or break a possible candidate—Truman replied:

"I DON'T KNOW anything about making kings in New York—he's not making kings in Missouri, I can tell you that."

DeSapio's New York office later isued a statement quoting Truman as saying, "when I made that remark it was meant to be facitious. I referred to Mr. DeSapio as leader of New York in the same sense that I retain for myself the leadership of Missouri. But seriously, in no sense are either of us king makers."

Truman reiterated he would not accept the 1956 Democratic nomination under any circumstances.

He said Stevenson telephoned him from New York and that "I told him if he announced for President I would be for him."

TRUMAN DESCRIBED Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who bolted the 1952 Democratic convention as "not a Democrat — he's a Shiverscrat."

In Washington, the Democratic National Committee made public a letter from Dr. Wallace H. Graham, Truman's personal physician since 1945.

Graham said he "cannot allow" Truman to make two California speeches because the former president's "tour of lectures to Detroit, Toledo and Chicago are arranged on such dates that it would be impossible for him to recuperate fully for a trip to California on Sept. 12."

THERE HAD been reports that Truman canceled appearances at California fund raising dinners because he was "sore" at Edwin W. Pauley, a prominent California Democrat.

Graham wrote the committee that Truman is a "man of tremendous energy and strength" but that "his reserve has been considerably undermined by his last illness after he underwent surgery."

Graham said the former president committed himself to the California appearances "before I had a chance to evaluate and be consulted in regard to his proposed schedule.

"He has been, and still is, extremely desirous of fulfilling the California engagement. This I cannot allow."

In his speech to the executives club, Truman asserted the Eisenhower administration already has trimmed the nation's armed forces too far and apparently intends to trim them more.

California Fire

tinguisher and also can be spread by plane-dropped balloons.

At Sequoia National Forest in the Sierra Nevada east of Fresno, Supervisor John Beebe said "things look good" although one blaze that jumped fire lines Thursday is still out of control. The fire is in Converse Basin, west of the huge Boole tree, north of the main fire and south of King's Canyon.

Both the General Grant tree and the Boole tree are apparently out of danger. The Grant tree is believed to be the world's oldest living thing.

IN ALL, 17,500 acres were burned in the nine-day Sequoia fire despite the work of 1,700 men. The National Forest Service estimated the damage at three million dollars.

Harry Crebbin, a National Forest Service information officer at Yreka, said "we seemed to have turned the corner" on four major fires. However, he said four other major blazes in the Klamath National Forest area were still out of control.

Those still burning were the haystack fire which once threatened Yreka, two in the Salmon Mountain area and one being handled by the State Forest Service in the Kidder Creek-Scott Valley area.

Some 3,500 men are battling the blazes.

Second Arrest Is Made in Series Of Area Thefts

A second arrest in connection with a series of thefts from road building equipment in the area was made yesterday by Kingston state police.

Christian Shaler, 20, of Ruby, was arrested by Sgt. Arthur Reilly and Trooper H. S. Rodes charged with grand larceny second degree. Shaler was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bernard T. Smith of the town of Kingston, waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

Anson Lester Curtis, 27, of Sawkill was arrested Thursday on a similar charge by Kingston state police.

The arrests followed investigation into recent thefts of expensive equipment such as radiators, tanks and wells, stolen from road building equipment on the Hurley-Lomontville road. A large radiator was stolen from similar equipment at Jockey Hill and a third theft in Saugerties involving a radiator, tank and well.

Curtis also waived examination when arraigned before Judge Smith and was held for the grand jury.

General's Injury

the internationally-known official was injured.

A woman at the general's home, who identified herself to newsmen as his wife, said he struck his shoulder on the corner of a cabinet.

His physician, Dr. Colin Campbell, directed that Schwarzkopf be admitted to the hospital. He telephoned police headquarters and said the general had "a laceration of the back on the right side over the region of the shoulder blade."

Campbell was not available for comment.

The Maplewood police blotter bears an entry saying Schwarzkopf sought aid at the drugstore about 8 p. m. Thursday and the pharmacist phoned Dr. Campbell and the police.

A patrolman found Schwarzkopf waiting in the front seat of his car outside the drugstore, was told he was not needed, and left when Dr. Campbell arrived.

Maplewood Police Chief Harold Dowd and a detective visited the hospital early this morning, but Dowd said he was not permitted to question Schwarzkopf because the general was sleeping. Dowd said he would return later today.

Schwarzkopf, a graduate of West Point, became nationally known during the Lindbergh kidnapping investigation which he headed.

He commanded the New Jersey state police from its founding in 1921 until 1936. Between 1942 and 1948, he was head of military mission to Iran to train the national police organization there. He has held his present post since 1951.

Po'keepsie Man Hurt As Car Leaves Road

Joseph Moschetto, 21, of Poughkeepsie, who suffered injuries when a 1955 sedan in which he was a passenger went off Route 9W in Esopus about 2:30 a. m., today, knocking down several guard rails and a utility pole, was reported in "fairly good" condition today at Vassar Brothers' Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Edward Anderson, 23, of Wappingers Falls, operator of the vehicle was treated for lacerations of the scalp and possible internal injuries and released after X-rays had been taken.

Trooper G. E. Whiting of the Highland state police said Mr. Anderson was traveling south at 45 MPH when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle and went off the road. Both men were thrown from the car.

port unless the backlog starts moving next week.

On the legal front, state Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, Jr., yesterday deferred until Monday application for a full court injunction sought by the New York-New Jersey waterfront commission against the International Longshoremen's Assn (Ind).

The ILA strike, entering its fourth day today, is avowedly against the bi-state agency and not the dockers' employers, the 170-member New York Shipping Assn.

Justice Hecht also continued until Monday an employers' restraining order issued last Wednesday against the union—an order which the ILA has ignored.

The employers yesterday reaffirmed their intention of proceeding with contempt of court charges against ILA officials and a suit against the union for 10 million dollars in damages. The ILA signed a no-strike contract with the shipping firms last January.

Baby Dies After Thruway Accident Friday Afternoon

A 15-month-old baby girl, injured in an accident on the Thruway about five miles north of Kingston shortly before noon yesterday, died at Kingston Hospital at 3:50 p. m. Friday.

Five persons, including two other children, all members of the same family, were hospitalized in the accident which took the life of Nancy Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Engel of 704 Wabash avenue, Belleville, Ill.

LISTED AS serious were Mrs. Engel, 28, and her mother, Mrs. Florence Daubach, 53. Mr. Engel, also 28, was listed as apparently fair and the two children, Diana Marie, 4½, and Kathleen Ann, 2½, as fair. All were taken to Kingston Hospital by Schultz Ambulance.

The accident occurred when a 1955 station wagon operated by Mrs. Engel attempted to pass a car operated by Anne Jacobs, 53, of Riverside Drive, New York city, and the two vehicles sideswiped each other, Thruway Police reported. Both cars were proceeding south.

THE STATION wagon went out of control, veered off the southbound lane and plunged about 30 or 40 feet down an embankment, coming to rest on its top, according to the Thruway Police.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle issued a verdict of accidental death. He said Nancy Jean died of a depressed fracture of the left frontal bone with contusions and lacerations of the brain. A contributing factor, he said, was the fracture of the left parietal occipital bone.

Mrs. Engel suffered a fractured right leg and complications due to pregnancy, Thruway Police reported. Mrs. Daubach suffered leg and back injuries.

Mr. Engel, a building contractor, was admitted to the hospital with abrasions of the right shoulder and back injuries, police said. They said the two children suffered shock.

The station wagon, which entered the Thruway at Syracuse, was described as a total wreck.

THE ACCIDENT occurred at 11:48 a. m., according to Thruway Police, at Mile Post 96.1, which is about three miles north of Ruby.

Investigating were Sgt. A. W. McDonald and Troopers M. J. Vaillant, H. C. Foster and D. A. Hoffman of the Thruway Police.

"I am convinced that we can continue to make reductions without lessening our defense potential or weakening our military posture."

After Radford had left Denver for Los Angeles, his Washington office said the admiral's comments "were intended to indicate that no major changes in military spending are expected."

UNESCO Is Not

town and could not be reached for comment.

THE REPORT discussed more than two dozen charges against UNESCO and said it found none to be borne out by facts. Among the charges:

1. That Alger Hiss called in a Communist front organization to help the State Department plan UNESCO. Hiss is a former State Department official who served a prison term after his conviction of lying in denying he passed government secrets to a prewar Soviet spy ring. The Legion committee said "there is no record of any activity by Mr. Hiss in connection with the formation of UNESCO."

2. That the late Harry Dexter White, onetime high treasury official described by Atty. Gen. Brownell as a Russian espionage agent, gave particular attention to the establishment of UNESCO at San Francisco in 1945. The committee said a study of UNESCO documents showed the agency was not established at San Francisco, but at London, and that White had not "the remotest connection" with it.

AS FOR UNESCO publications, the report said they ranged from "the boring to . . . the interestingly informative," but were "as subversive at worst as the tales of Hans Christian Andersen."

The special committee—authorized by the 1953 and 1954 Legion conventions — said a search of 10 years of Communist Daily Worker editions turned up "surprisingly few" references to UNESCO.

Adenauer Is

diate exchange of ambassadors as a first step toward normalizing relations between the two countries.

OBSERVERS cited Adenauer's opening speech yesterday to give weight to this view. Adenauer told the Kremlin chieftains he expected the Moscow talks to be just the first of many which would lead eventually to establishment of normal relations.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev arrived at Spiridonovka Palace for today's talks three minutes ahead of Adenauer and his foreign minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Adenauer and his delegation planned strategy for the meeting aboard a German train in the railyards outside Leningrad station. They are holding their confidential talks aboard the train because of their skepticism concerning security at their Sovietskaya Hotel headquarters.

WHILE the conferees faced each other across the negotiating table in their second session, Moscow residents clustered at wallboards covered with newspapers giving the full text of Adenauer's opening statement. It was the first time most Soviet citizens had ever seen West Germany's views on the return of German war prisoners still held by the Soviets and on reunification of Germany.

The Soviet press gave the talks tremendous publicity. The first and second pages of both Pravda and Izvestia were almost entirely devoted to the conference. Both papers printed eight-column pictures of the ceremony.

State Leaders

strongly as a presidential candidate" but he "doesn't care" whom the Democrats nominate.

Although he said he expected no announcement by the President of his intentions he regards the meeting with the state chairmen as worthwhile because "whenever you meet with the President, you come away with something of value."

SOME GOP CHAIRMEN hadn't given up hope that Eisenhower would indicate by his actions, if not by his words, that he is ready to head the 1956 ticket unless there are unforseen developments.

Several state leaders said an early announcement would help them considerably in getting the election campaign under way. Several said they have found politically attractive prospects, whom they would like to have on their ticket for state and congressional offices, are declining to commit themselves to the races until they know whether the President will run again.

Awaits Discharge

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 10 (AP) — Leroy Van Camp, 43, was sent home to Blue Springs, Mo., last night, to await a discharge from the army he left without leave 20 years ago. Van Camp, a mechanic, tried to enlist. Routine questioning by a recruiting officer in Kansas City brought out the information that the man had quit his outfit without authority at Ft. Douglas, Utah, in 1935. He was taken into military custody.

MacArthur . . .

be forced back when China entered the conflict.

A MacArthur aide in New York said there would be no immediate comment from the general on Truman's remarks.

STILL PLUGGING Adlai E. Stevenson for president, Truman told a news conference that New York's Carmine DeSapio is not a "king maker" in Truman's home state of Missouri.

DeSapio, head of the New York city Democratic organization, reportedly favors Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for a presidential candidate.

Asked if he regarded DeSapio as a "king maker" — a figure powerful enough to make or break a possible candidate—Truman replied:

"I DON'T KNOW anything about making kings in New York—he's not making kings in Missouri, I can tell you that."

DeSapio's New York office later isued a statement quoting Truman as saying, "when I made that remark it was meant to be facitious. I referred to Mr. DeSapio as leader of New York in the same sense that I retain for myself the leadership of Missouri. But seriously, in no sense are either of us king makers."

Truman reiterated he would not accept the 1956 Democratic nomination under any circumstances.

He said Stevenson telephoned him from New York and that "I told him if he announced for President I would be for him."

TRUMAN DESCRIBED Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who bolted the 1952 Democratic convention as "not a Democrat—he's a Shiverscrat."

In Washington, the Democratic National Committee made public a letter from Dr. Wallace H. Graham, Truman's personal physician since 1945.

Graham said he "cannot allow" Truman to make two California speeches because the former president's "tour of lectures to Detroit, Toledo and Chicago are arranged on such dates that it would be impossible for him to recuperate fully for a trip to California on Sept. 12."

THERE HAD been reports that Truman canceled appearances at California fund raising dinners because he was "sore" at Edwin W. Pauley, a prominent California Democrat.

Graham wrote the committee that Truman is a "man of tremendous energy and strength" but that "his reserve has been considerably undermined by his last illness after he underwent surgery."

Graham said the former president committed himself to the California appearances "before I had a chance to evaluate and be consulted in regard to his proposed schedule.

"He has been, and still is, extremely desirous of fulfilling the California engagement. This I cannot allow."

In his speech to the executives club, Truman asserted the Eisenhower administration already has trimmed the nation's armed forces too far and apparently intends to trim them more.

California Fire

tinguisher and also can be spread by plane-dropped balloons.

At Sequoia National Forest in the Sierra Nevada east of Fresno, Supervisor John Beebe said "things look good" although one blaze that jumped fire lines Thursday is still out of control. The fire is in Converse Basin, west of the huge Boole tree, north of the main fire and south of King's Canyon.

Both the General Grant tree and the Boole tree are apparently out of danger. The Grant tree is believed to be the world's oldest living thing.

IN ALL, 17,500 acres were burned in the nine-day Sequoia fire despite the work of 1,700 men. The National Forest Service estimated the damage at three million dollars.

Harry Crebbin, a National Forest Service information officer at Yreka, said "we seemed to have turned the corner" on four major fires. However, he said four other major blazes in the Klamath National Forest area were still out of control.

Those still burning were the haystack fire which once threatened Yreka, two in the Salmon Mountain area and one being handled by the State Forest Service in the Kidder Creek-Scott Valley area.

Some 3,500 men are battling the blazes.

Second Arrest Is Made in Series Of Area Thefts

A second arrest in connection with a series of thefts from road building equipment in the area was made yesterday by Kingston state police.

Christian Shaler, 20, of Ruby, was arrested by Sgt. Arthur Reilly and Trooper H. S. Rodes charged with grand larceny second degree. Shaler was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bernard T. Smith of the town of Kingston, waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

Anson Lester Curtis, 27, of Sawkill was arrested Thursday on a similar charge by Kingston state police.

The arrests followed investigation into recent thefts of expensive equipment such as radiators, tanks and wells, stolen from road building equipment on the Hurley-Lomontville road. A large radiator was stolen from similar equipment at Jockey Hill and a third theft in Saugerties involving a radiator, tank and well.

Curtis also waived examination when arariged before Judge Smith and was held for the grand jury.

General's Injury

the internationally-known official was injured.

A woman at the general's home, who identified herself to newsmen as his wife, said he struck his shoulder on the corner of a cabinet.

His physician, Dr. Colin Campbell, directed that Schwarzkopf be admitted to the hospital. He telephoned police headquarters and said the general had "a laceration of the back on the right side over the region of the shoulder blade."

Campbell was not available for comment.

The Maplewood police blotter bears an entry saying Schwarzkopf sought aid at the drugstore about 8 p. m. Thursday and the pharmacist phoned Dr. Campbell and the police.

A patrolman found Schwarzkopf waiting in the front seat of his car outside the drugstore, was told he was not needed, and left when Dr. Campbell arrived.

Maplewood Police Chief Harold Dowd and a detective visited the hospital early this morning, but Dowd said he was not permitted to question Schwarzkopf because the general was sleeping. Dowd said he would return later today.

Schwarzkopf, a graduate of West Point, became nationally known during the Lindbergh kidnapping investigation which he headed.

He commanded the New Jersey state police from its founding in 1921 until 1936. Between 1942 and 1948, he was head of military mission to Iran to train the national police organization there. He has held his present post since 1951.

Po'keepsie Man Hurt As Car Leaves Road

Joseph Moschetto, 21, of Poughkeepsie, who suffered injuries when a 1955 sedan in which he was a passenger went off Route 9W in Esopus about 2:30 a. m., today, knocking down several guard rails and a utility pole, was reported in "fairly good" condition today at Vassar Brothers' Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Edward Anderson, 23, of Wappingers Falls, operator of the vehicle was treated for lacerations of the scalp and possible internal injuries and released after X-rays had been taken.

Trooper G. E. Whiting of the Highland state police said Mr. Anderson was traveling south at 45 MPH when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle and went off the road. Both men were thrown from the car.

Stevedores Given

port unless the backlog starts moving next week.

On the legal front, state Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, Jr., yesterday deferred until Monday application for a full court injunction sought by the New York-New Jersey waterfront commission against the International Longshoremen's Assn (Ind).

The ILA strike, entering its fourth day today, is avowedly against the bi-state agency and not the dockers' employers, the 170-member New York Shipping Assn.

Justice Hecht also continued until Monday an employers' restraining order issued last Wednesday against the union—an order which the ILA has ignored.

The employers yesterday reaffirmed their intention of proceeding with contempt of court charges against ILA officials and a suit against the union for 10 million dollars in damages. The ILA signed a no-strike contract with the shipping firms last January.

PROTECTING NATURE

It often seems that the world has nothing but problems. On every hand a group exists to espouse a certain cause, sounding as if the area of their concern represented the world's most crucial problem. The International Union for the Protection of Nature may sound like simply another such group. And perhaps in a world teetering between war and peace, threatened with the destruction of the hydrogen bomb and beset by a clash of two irreconcilable philosophies, the protection of nature seems unimportant. Yet a group is needed that seek to protect nature from the ever increasing industrial and agricultural demands of the world.

Even in this age of advanced technology, nature is still important. For all his progress, modern man cannot escape his dependence on it. Yet, the Union says, he is wiping out forests, causing erosion and killing wildlife to the point of extinction. In America he did exterminate the passenger pigeon and almost killed off the buffalo.

Conservationists recognized a balance in nature which man is unwise to upset. Miss Margaret Caram, Swiss head of the union, cites the history of the leopard as an example. Because of its murderous nature, the leopard in Africa was considered a public enemy early in this century and was killed indiscriminately. Subsequently the settlers began to be troubled by wild pigs and baboons, the leopard's main food. When the leopard began to disappear, they began to multiply. The balance of nature had been upset. Countless other examples of troubles developing from upsetting the balance could be cited.

The Union wants to promote efforts to maintain this balance, thus avoiding the disastrous economic effects that upsetting it could produce. Its aims may not provoke much excitement, but the consequences of ignoring them could be grave.

JAMESTOWN RENEWED

Since 1893 Jamestown, Va., the first English settlement in North America, has been owned by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. The organization has recently announced ambitious plans for the town's improvement which it hopes will be completed for Jamestown's 350th anniversary in 1957.

The original fort will be reconstructed and permanent exhibit buildings erected. Among the displays will be seaworthy reproductions of the three ships, the Susan Constant, the Godspeed and the Discovery, which brought the first 105 settlers here in 1607. A festival park will show the remains of the first American road. Our first factory, a glass works built in 1608, will be reconstructed and operated during the 1957 celebration. After 1957 restored Jamestown will be managed by the state of Virginia.

The fame of nearby Williamsburg has caused lack of tourist interest in Jamestown. But visitors wishing to see the country as the first settlers saw it will derive a special thrill from visiting the town after the restorations have been made.

MAKING NEW MOONS

The moon, says an old story, is made of green cheese. So far no traveler has been there to confirm or deny. The General Electric Company doees not plan to use cheese for its earth satellites in its new laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y. It willl develop new materials for satellities, stoves, turbines, and television tubes. Of such experiment will come the space ship of the future.

So far no orders are being taken for space ships or planets. But it may not be many years, now before all such things are found on sale.

AUSTRIA'S LESSON

Before World War II the Austrian republic was torn among Socialists, members of the Catholic political party and those who wanted annexation to Germany.

When Hitler seized the country in 1939, the Socialists were horrified at Nazi cruelties and suppression of liberal ideas. The Catholics found that lawless despotism like Hitler's was far worse than parliamentary democracy. Admirers of Germany decided that anything was better than annexation to a country ruled by Nazis.

Now that Austria is independent, all three elements are cooperating and keeping partisan rivalry down to a reasonable limit. The lesson of rule by Hitler and his gang is still remembered.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF TURKEY

There are two ways of looking at all so-called international questions: One is to view every question from the standpoint of a particular nation other than the United States; the other is to attempt to view problems from the standpoint of the United States. There are those who try to have what they believe to be a universal position without any regard to any particular country. I do not understand how this is accomplished intellectually or emotionally.

Turkey is a specific American problem as long as the United States continues to pursue the Truman-Acheson "Containment Policy," which the Eisenhower Administration has finally settled for after experimenting in other directions. Our object seems to be to contain the Soviet Universal State within its present boundaries and at Geneva, the Russians apparently accepted that program for the present. Turkey and Greece are two anchors of the "Containment Policy." Both are important and if these countries destroyed their alliance with each other and with the United States, it would be harmful to the United States. Both countries are in NATO and are, with Yugoslavia, combined into the Balkan Alliance. They ought to remain that way from the standpoint of the best interests of the United States and the peace of the world.

Unfortunately these relations are disturbed over Cyprus, an island which is predominantly Greek by language and religion but which lies hard-by the shores of Turkey like a cork in a bottle. In the hands of an enemy of Turkey, Cyprus can totally neutralize that country and destroy its economy.

Cyprus is now a British Colony and the Turks would prefer to keep it that way. So would the United States. Despite all the agitation to the contrary, it is probable that the wisest men in Greece realize how dangerous it is to disturb the world over Cyprus, but the agitation for uniting Cyprus with Greece has become so potent that no public man in Greece dares to present all the dangers of unnecessary change at this time. Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey has this to say on the subject:

"To those who on the strength of their handful of a majority in Cyprus want to create fresh problems for the world, we are compelled to ask 'What was their business on the outskirts of Ankara?' It must be clear to all that a large part of the Turkish coast is surrounded by fortresses belonging to other countries observing and threatening us. Cyprus is at present a safe area but in this regard, Cyprus is an extension of Anatolia and it forms one of the essential points of its security.

"If a change is therefore contemplated in the status of the island, this change must be based not on ethic grounds, but on other much more important facts and realities and it must be returned to Turkey. Our delegation which is going to London will defend the maintenance of the status quo as a minimum condition. The maintenance of the status quo is the only way in which all kinds of differences can be solved."

Turkey does not wish to fight over Cyprus or anex it, but there is little question that Turkey will fight if Cyprus is to be transferred from Great Britain to Greece. It would be a pity if two fine peoples, our allies, get into a war and what is more, should such a war occur, the United States could not long be neutral. It would be forced by all the circumstances of our relations with Great Britain to support Turkey in this quarrel. And that would have to happen despite the enormous Greek population in the United States which would protest such action. It would be preferable to keep the status quo until major problems are solved. In his statement, the Turkish Premier said:

"But I wish to make a definite statement to the effect that this country will not tolerate in any way any changes in the status quo of Cyprus, either now or in the future, which would prejudice the interests of our country."

Our problem is peace. Great wars often start from small wars and even smaller events. It is to the interest of the United States to maintain the status quo in the world as long as possible—and that is never too long.

MANAGEMENT OF BED-WETTING

I write frequently about enuresis (bed-wetting) as it is such a common condition in childhood, ranging from 8 to 28 per cent, according to various observers. Of course, the type that occurs at night is most common and it is also quite rare in adults.

There are many different causes of bed-wetting but it is thought that most cases are due to emotional causes rather than any actual physical disease. Disturbances due to an actual physical disease may usually be distinguished by the fact that the urine is dribbled rather than passed in a full stream. In many instances, some mistake or neglect in original bladder training is the cause. Emotional scenes and arousing the child's antagonism to the training program must be avoided.

Training in bladder control is often begun too early by parents. It should not, as a rule, be attempted earlier than the eighth or later than the twelfth month of life. Results are best if control is taught by the person who causes the most favorable reactions in the child, usually the mother. The child should be put on his chair at regular intervals during the day and the intervals are gradually lengthened as control is acquired. Accidents must be passed over lightly but successful performance should be given much praise. More patience is required for boys because of necessary training in two positions, the sitting and the erect.

Night training should not be attempted until daytime control has been attained. A supper relatively low in fluids may encourage night dryness. For example, no liquids may be given after 4 p. m. and a salt sandwich, consisting of bread and butter with a layer of salty fish or salty meat may be given before going to bed. As salt holds 70 times its own weight of water in the tissues, this great amount of salt at bedtime holds the water in the tissues until morning, thus preventing it going down to the kidneys and thence to the bladder.

If wetting is persistent during the night, the child should be awakened completely before the expected time for urination. He should not be carried by the parents to the bathroom but should be aroused sufficiently to walk there himself. The time interval is lengthened as rapidly as possible until awakening is no longer necessary. The use of an alarm clock has been found helpful in developing bladder control.

It must be remembered that encouragement will increase the child's self-confidence. Punishment and discouragement should never be used.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — One month of the U. S.-Red China talks in Geneva on release of Americans held in China has now been ticked off with no apparent progress. They may end in failure any day. Or a successful breakthrough might come between the time this it written and the time it gets in print. The more likely prospect is that they will go on and on.

When the American negotiator, Ambassador Ural Alexis Johnson, came back to Washington before he began his talky-talk with Communist Ambassador Wang Ping-nan, he was prepared for the worst.

As deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs, Johnson had been in on the Korean cease-fire negotiations. They lasted two years and 17 days before the prisoner exchange deal was worked out and the armistice signed.

Johnson was reminded by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that his Geneva dickering might take another two years. That's the way Communists like to work.

ON JULY 30, Communist Premier Chou En-lai declared that, "The number of American citizens in China is small, and their question can be easily settled."

The number of American civilians held by the Chinese Communists is 41, and their release could be ordered instantly.

What happened to upset this simple solution was that on the eve of the Geneva conference, the Commies outsmarted themselves. They released the 11 U. S. airmen they had been holding as prisoners of war.

Their big idea seemed to be that this would create a lot of American good will towards Red China. The Geneva talks would then proceed to settle everything the Chinese wanted to talk about, to their advantage.

What happened instead was that Col. John Knox Arnold and his 10 companions, as soon as released, told their story of Communist prison camp tortures. Their ordeal was spread all over the free world. It caused a wave of anti-Communist feeling. The Chinese lost more face fast.

SINCE THEN the Communists seem to have been at somewhat of a loss on how to play their hand. Instead of trying to recover good will by unconditionally releasing the 41 American civilians, the Communists chose to hang on to the American hostages for blackmail bargaining.

This is an old Commie trick. Russia has been hanging on to thousands of German and Japanese prisoners since the end of World War 2. At the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in 1945, when the western powers proposed release of prisoners in compliance with armistice terms, Molotov protested.

His argument was that the return-of-prisoners clause had merely been put in to induce surrender. Now that the enemy had surrendered, why bother about it?

How long the Chinese Communists will retain the 41 Americans is, of course, unknown. But the concessions the Communists want to wring from the United States by holding these hostages were pretty well indicated by Chou's July 30 speech.

HE SAID HE wanted trade barriers against China removed. He wanted American forces supporting Formosa removed. He wanted Formosa turned over to control of his government. And he wanted direct negotiations with the United States to settle Far Eastern problems on his terms.

Presumably he wants these negotiations at a higher level than the talks now going on in Geneva between Johnson and Wang.

While no American wants to see his fellow countryman held prisoner by the Reds even for one day, it can be stated authoritatively that the price asked by the Communists for release of the 41 won't be paid.

What Chou wants is a conference with Dulles. To say that such a conference will never take place would be too sweeping a statement. But it isn't on any calendar or date book yet, and it isn't being planned.

The present assurances are that before any such meeting can take place, there will have to be a complete change in the Chinese Communists' behavior toward their neighbors and all other nations.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: Why not have something like the Oscars for the record field? RCA's Joe Carlton thinks the industry is as much an art as the movies, and there should be some annual award for "bests." Like the Academy Awards, it should be industry-wide, impartial, respected — and it should include awards for technicians as well as performers. All in favor say hi-fi.

A hit record usually makes life easier for the artist who made it. But for Dick Maltby, a couple of hits really complicated his living pattern.

Malby is an orchestra leader. For many years, he conducted on radio and for transcriptions. He did the arranging and conducting on many record hits over the years, but he was almost always anonymous. Then his old friend, Jimmy Hilliard, brought him to the new label "X" as musical director. And he began to make records under his own name. Poof went anonymity.

"Hilliard asked me what kind of a band I wanted," says Maltby, who looks more like a banker than an orchestra leader. "Did I want a big sound, like Percy Faith, or a dance band sound. I said I'd like to try a big sound, with lots of strings."

He made four sides with that type of orchestra. Everybody liked them but nobody bought them. When it came time for his next session, Hilliard suggested a change—in fact, he said Malty should make a mambo out of the St. Louis Blues and give it a dance band arrangement.

"I told him I didn't think that was a very good idea," Dick says. "And that's how I got my first hit — 'The St. Louis Blues Mambo.'"

He's had quite a few since then. And people began to write in, wanting to see Dick Maltby and His Orchestra in person. That was pretty tough to do, since there wasn't a permanent Malty Orchestra; like most recording bands, it was strictly a pick-up affair.

But the letter-writers became so insistent that Maltby organized a band and they're now starting to go out on the road. For Dick, i's the first time on the one-nighters since his early days. He's even unearthed his old trumpet, figuring if he was going to front a band, he might as well do something. It took a while to get his lip back in shape, but he's playing solos these days.

The problem was his family. He has a son at Yale, a daughter at Penn Hall. Since they're both away from home, he decided he could do it, too.

"The family all said go ahead," Dick says. "They all said they'd be willing to make sacrifices. Although I don't know what they sacrifice."

PROTECTING NATURE

It often seems that the world has nothing but problems. On every hand a group exists to espouse a certain cause, sounding as if the area of their concern represented the world's most crucial problem. The International Union for the Protection of Nature may sound like simply another such group. And perhaps in a world teetering between war and peace, threatened with the destruction of the hydrogen bomb and beset by a clash of two irreconcilable philosophies, the protection of nature seems unimportant. Yet a group is needed that seek to protect nature from the ever increasing industrial and agricultural demands of the world.

Even in this age of advanced technology, nature is still important. For all his progress, modern man cannot escape his dependence on it. Yet, the Union says, he is wiping out forests, causing erosion and killing wildlife to the point of extinction. In America he did exterminate the passenger pigeon and almost killed off the buffalo.

Conservationists recognized a balance in nature which man is unwise to upset. Miss Margaret Caram, Swiss head of the union, cites the history of the leopard as an example. If wetting is persistent during the night, the child should be awakened completely before the expected time for urination. He should not be carried by the parents to the bathroom but should be aroused sufficiently to walk there himself. The time interval is lengthened as rapidly as possible until awakening is no longer necessary. The use of an alarm clock has been found helpful in developing bladder control.

It must be remembered that encouragement will increase the child's self-confidence. Punishment and discouragement should never be used.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — One month of the U. S.-Red China talks in Geneva on release of Americans held in China has now been ticked off with no apparent progress. They may end in failure any day. Or a successful breakthrough might come between the time this it written and the time it gets in print. The more likely prospect is that they will go on and on.

When the American negotiator, Ambassador Ural Alexis Johnson, came back to Washington before he began his talky-talk with Communist Ambassador Wang Ping-nan, he was prepared for the worst.

As deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs, Johnson had been in on the Korean cease-fire negotiations. They lasted two years and 17 days before the prisoner exchange deal was worked out and the armistice signed.

Johnson was reminded by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that his Geneva dickering might take another two years. That's the way Communists like to work.

ON JULY 30, Communist Premier Chou En-lai declared that, "The number of American citizens in China is small, and their question can be easily settled."

The number of American civilians held by the Chinese Communists is 41, and their release could be ordered instantly.

What happened to upset this simple solution was that on the eve of the Geneva conference, the Commies outsmarted themselves. They released the 11 U. S. airmen they had been holding as prisoners of war.

Their big idea seemed to be that this would create a lot of American good will towards Red China. The Geneva talks would then proceed to settle everything the Chinese wanted to talk about, to their advantage.

What happened instead was that Col. John Knox Arnold and his 10 companions, as soon as released, told their story of Communist prison camp tortures. Their ordeal was spread all over the free world. It caused a wave of anti-Communist feeling. The Chinese lost more face fast.

SINCE THEN the Communists seem to have been at somewhat of a loss on how to play their hand. Instead of trying to recover good will by unconditionally releasing the 41 American civilians, the Communists chose to hang on to the American hostages for blackmail bargaining.

This is an old Commie trick. Russia has been hanging on to thousands of German and Japanese prisoners since the end of World War 2. At the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in 1945, when the western powers proposed release of prisoners in compliance with armistice terms, Molotov protested.

His argument was that the return-of-prisoners clause had merely been put in to induce surrender. Now that the enemy had surrendered, why bother about it?

How long the Chinese Communists will retain the 41 Americans is, of course, unknown. But the concessions the Communists want to wring from the United States by holding these hostages were pretty well indicated by Chou's July 30 speech.

HE SAID HE wanted trade barriers against China removed. He wanted American forces supporting Formosa removed. He wanted Formosa turned over to control of his government. And he wanted direct negotiations with the United States to settle Far Eastern problems on his terms.

Presumably he wants these negotiations at a higher level than the talks now going on in Geneva between Johnson and Wang.

While no American wants to see his fellow countryman held prisoner by the Reds even for one day, it can be stated authoritatively that the price asked by the Communists for release of the 41 won't be paid.

What Chou wants is a conference with Dulles. To say that such a conference will never take place would be too sweeping a statement. But it isn't on any calendar or date book yet, and it isn't being planned.

The present assurances are that before any such meeting can take place, there will have to be a complete change in the Chinese Communists' behavior toward their neighbors and all other nations.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: Why not have something like the Oscars for the record field? RCA's Joe Carlton thinks the industry is as much an art as the movies, and there should be some annual award for "bests." Like the Academy Awards, it should be industry-wide, impartial, respected — and it should include awards for technicians as well as performers. All in favor say hi-fi.

A hit record usually makes life easier for the artist who made it. But for Dick Maltby, a couple of hits really complicated his living pattern.

Malby is an orchestra leader. For many years, he conducted on radio and for transcriptions. He did the arranging and conducting on many record hits over the years, but he was almost always anonymous. Then his old friend, Jimmy Hilliard, brought him to the new label "X" as musical director. And he began to make records under his own name. Poof went anonymity.

"Hilliard asked me what kind of a band I wanted," says Maltby, who looks more like a banker than an orchestra leader. "Did I want a big sound, like Percy Faith, or a dance band sound. I said I'd like to try a big sound, with lots of strings."

He made four sides with that type of orchestra. Everybody liked them but nobody bought them. When it came time for his next session, Hilliard suggested a change—in fact, he said Malty should make a mambo out of the St. Louis Blues and give it a dance band arrangement.

"I told him I didn't think that was a very good idea," Dick says. "And that's how I got my first hit — 'The St. Louis Blues Mambo.'"

He's had quite a few since then. And people began to write in, wanting to see Dick Maltby and His Orchestra in person. That was pretty tough to do, since there wasn't a permanent Malty Orchestra; like most recording bands, it was strictly a pick-up affair.

But the letter-writers became so insistent that Maltby organized a band and they're now starting to go out on the road. For Dick, i's the first time on the one-nighters since his early days. He's even unearthed his old trumpet, figuring if he was going to front a band, he might as well do something. It took a while to get his lip back in shape, but he's playing solos these days.

The problem was his family. He has a son at Yale, a daughter at Penn Hall. Since they're both away from home, he decided he could do it, too.

"The family all said go ahead," Dick says. "They all said they'd be willing to make sacrifices. Although I don't know what they sacrifice."

WHO DOES THE DISHES

"My husband and I were invited to a dinner at the house of a business associate of his. After dessert the table was cleared by the hostess while I sat talking to the host. After about fifteen minutes when the hostess did not return to the room, I realized that she was washing the dishes. Thinking that I was doing the right thing I went into the kitchen and offered to help and was readily handed a dish towel to dry the dishes. My husband later criticized me for doing this and said I was wrong to have left them and gone out into the kitchen since it was our first visit. He said that one only does this with intimate friends. I would like your opinion on this matter."

I think in this particular case the hostess was at fault not you, and should have stacked her dishes quickly and come back into the living room. But as she stayed and washed them, it certainly was both friendly and helpful on your part to have stayed and helped her.

When Parents Are Separated

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm about to order my wedding invitations but I'm not sure how they should be worded. A year ago my parents were separated (not divorced) and at that time I moved to a woman's hotel as I did not want to take sides with either one. Now that I am to be married I don't know whose name should appear on the invitations. I am fond of both and don't want to slight either one. Would it be completely wrong to word them Mrs. Mary Brown and Mr. Henry Brown request ....etc., or would it be better to say "The honour of your presence is requested....etc.

Answer: I think in your particular situation "The honour of your presence is requested.... etc." In this way you can avoid having to use the name of either of your parents.

WHO DOES THE DISHES

"My husband and I were invited to a dinner at the house of a business associate of his. After dessert the table was cleared by the hostess while I sat talking to the host. After about fifteen minutes when the hostess did not return to the room, I realized that she was washing the dishes. Thinking that I was doing the right thing I went into the kitchen and offered to help and was readily handed a dish towel to dry the dishes. My husband later criticized me for doing this and said I was wrong to have left them and gone out into the kitchen since it was our first visit. He said that one only does this with intimate friends. I would like your opinion on this matter."

I think in this particular case the hostess was at fault not you, and should have stacked her dishes quickly and come back into the living room. But as she stayed and washed them, it certainly was both friendly and helpful on your part to have stayed and helped her.

When Parents Are Separated

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm about to order my wedding invitations but I'm not sure how they should be worded. A year ago my parents were separated (not divorced) and at that time I moved to a woman's hotel as I did not want to take sides with either one. Now that I am to be married I don't know whose name should appear on the invitations. I am fond of both and don't want to slight either one. Would it be completely wrong to word them Mrs. Mary Brown and Mr. Henry Brown request ....etc., or would it be better to say "The honour of your presence is requested....etc.

Answer: I think in your particular situation "The honour of your presence is requested.... etc." In this way you can avoid having to use the name of either of your parents.

What type of music is played for the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, Her leaflet E-2, includes this and other details for formal wedding procedures. 'A Dictionary Is a Girl's Best Friend,' Says Air Force Secretary Judy Kurer

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Girls who want to make good in the world of big business should first learn to spell, says Judy Kurer, who has found glamour, success and world travel in the job of an expert secretary.

Now in Tachikawa, Japan, recording high-level conferences for the U. S. Air Force, Judy took time out for a chat while in New York just before her takeoff. Here are some bits of sound advice she offers to girls who want secretarial jobs:

Do's and Dont's

1. When you apply for a job, always wear a hat and gloves. The casual look is not for business offices.

2. Don't talk too much. Constant yakety-yak can drive an employer crazy.

3. Never be caught out without your pocket dictionary. Even if you think you can spell, you'll find the dictionary comes in handy frequently.

4. Don't take a job with the idea of marrying the boss. Business men of today are too busy for office romances. They want somebody to get the work out, not hold hands.

Mechanized Secretary

Judy has a unique job. She is what might be called a mechanized secretary. Her specialty is to take verbatim reports of meetings, conversations, speeches and sometimes trials, by talking into a strange device called a stenomask, which is hooked up to a recording machine.

When ready for work, Judy looks something like a girl from Mars, with the mask fitted tightly over her mouth, in the manner of skin diving equipment. Her job then is to repeat the words to be recorded as she hears them. Her voice is inaudible to anyone else in the room when the mask is adjusted, and each word is recorded on a disk, which can be transcribed later.

272 WPM

Judy can record 272 words a minute with her futuristic equipment, and has been known to record the off-the-cuff remarks of 45 men in general executive discussion, getting every word spoken for 90 minutes.

Judy drove a truck for the Red Cross in Europe during World War 2, as a part of the doughnut-and-coffee brigade, before turning her attention to making a career of being a secretary. Says Judy:

"I think I have one of the world's most exciting jobs. But I'd never have made it without my pocket dictionary."

He earned the degree at the University of Pennsylvania by studying part-time for six years and writing a 100-page thesis on Johann Sebastian Bach.

Mechanized Secretary

Judy has a unique job. She is what might be called a mechanized secretary. Her specialty is to take verbatim reports of meetings, conversations, speeches and sometimes trials, by talking into a strange device called a stenomask, which is hooked up to a recording machine.

When ready for work, Judy looks something like a girl from Mars; with the mask fitted tightly over her mouth, in the manner of skin diving equipment. Her job then is to repeat the words to be recorded as she hears them. Her voice is inaudible to anyone else in the room when the mask is adjusted, and each word is recorded on a disk, which can be transcribed later.

Judy can record 272 words a minute with her futuristic equipment, and has been known to record the off-the-cuff remarks of 45 men in general executive discussion, getting every word spoken for 90 minutes.

Judy drove a truck for the Red Cross in Europe during World War 2, as a part of the doughnut-and-coffee brigade, before turning her attention to making a career of being a secretary. Says Judy:

"I think I have one of the world's most exciting jobs. But I'd never have made it without my pocket dictionary."

Three Job Man

Trenton, N. J. (AP)—Ben W. Rounds earned a master's degree in music theory the hard way—while holding two jobs that had nothing to do with music. The 42-year-old musician is a mail clerk at the capitol and drives a cab at night. He earned the degree at the University of Pennsylvania by studying part-time for six years and writing a 100-page thesis on Johann Sebastian Bach.

TO OUR DEPOSITORS and FRIENDS . . .

Since 1870 the Ulster County Savings Institution (chartered 1851) has occupied the premises at 280 Wall Street, Kingston. During its 104 years of service in Ulster County, the bank has grown greatly and now we find that we can no longer operate under present conditions. The Trustees, feeling that the future growth and needs of the community can be best served by new and additional facilities, have let contracts for a new modern bank building and vaults.

Meantime, we are forced to vacate and have been fortunate enough to rent temporary quarters at 52 Main Street, next to the Uptown Post Office, where we will be located starting Sept. 12. May we, therefore, ask your kind indulgence and cooperation during our interim removal to that address.

New Uses Are Found For Fiber Hardboards

Fiber hardboards, familiar for the webbing pattern on the backs of the panels, can now be had with both sides smooth. The tempered variety is more dense than the standard hardboard and is recommended for places involving wear, high or fluctuating humidity and exposure to the weather.

This material with two sides smooth is handy for kitchen cabinet and drawer dividers, folding screens and various built-ins where both sides must be finished.

Keep Ahead of Sun

Don't paint a house in direct sunlight if you can avoid it. The sun often causes paint to dry too fast and wrinkly in hot weather. You can keep ahead of the sun by painting the west side in the morning, northern surfaces next, the east side in the afternoon, and the south when the sun is lower in the sky.

Roominess Highlight Of 'Goodlake'

By ELEANOR E. BARRIERE

A charmingly modern one-story house, "The Goodlake," today's offering from the Home of the Week Plan Service, contains three good-sized bedrooms and will prove especially popular with those families who want plenty of sleeping space.

Measuring 76 feet by 24 feet 6 inches, the house has a cubage of 40,000 feet. Thus, to build this house and attached garage you'll need approximately a 100-foot lot. And, regardless of the site you select for this house — or where you decide to place it on the land — if you choose this plan you're certain to have an attractive home that will be "in style" for years to come.

Exterior Finish

Any type of exterior finish will be appropriate for a home of this style. Simple, uncomplicated landscaping will blend with and at the same time emphasize the simple, uncluttered architecture of this modified ranch house.

The well planned interior contains six rooms plus a utility room where you can have your home laundry equipment installed. First floor laundries are proving more and more popular with modern homemakers who find it easier to hang out and take in clothes when the base of operations is located on the ground floor.

All three bedrooms in this house feature good lighting and ventilation. Each room also has ample storage facilities. The regular bath is located conveniently near to the bedrooms; it is large enough to accommodate a shower as well as a tub.

Extra Lavatory

For added convenience, a lavatory opens off the utility room. This lavatory will not only prove its worth during that inevitable morning rush but also will be especially convenient for the lady of the house when she's busy with her daily tasks and for the youngsters and their pals who make so many jaunts in and out through the back door.

This house plan—unlike many available today — includes both a dining room and living room. Each of these rooms is well-lighted, pleasant and of good size. A fireplace and built-in bookshelves are suggested for the living room.

Compact and neat, the all-modern kitchen will win the approval of any housewife. The breakfast nook included in the kitchen layout is an ideal spot in which to serve those between meal snacks.

Complete plans and specifications for "The Goodlake," or any plan in this series, can be obtained at moderate cost. To find out the exact price write to the Home of the Week, Inc., 87 Weybosset steet, Providence, R. I., and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. At lease one week should be allowed for a reply.

Hot Oil Will Preserve Natural Color of Logs

Logs left to weather turn gray and dull quickly. A hot oil treatment will preserve their colors. Linseed oil is boiled for this purpose. After it has been removed from the fire, but while still warm, turpentine is mixed in.

Turpentine is inflammable, so care should be used. One part turpentine to three of oil is good for a first coat; ¼ turpentine for a second coat, and straight oil for the third.

This will allow the logs to mellow in soft natural colors.

Black Now Important Accent on Decoration

Black has become an important decorating accent. In outstanding model rooms which are the work of noted decorators, you will note for instance, that the slender metal rod supports of contemporary style tables and floor lamps are painted black. Or, you will see a black-lacquered screen — or, a pair of side chairs — which add distinction with their shining or dull black coating.

How to Get Paint Ready for Job

When you're applying paint or enamel, you must make sure that the solid matter—the pigment—in the can is evenly distributed through the liquid. This can be done, easily enough, when you open a new can by pouring off most of the liquid into a second container and stirring what is left with a paint paddle or flat stick unitl the pigment is thoroughly mixed with the liquid.

Gradually add more and more of the liquid from the second container, stirring thoroughly all the time. Finally, pour the paint several times from one container to the other until the entire contents of the can is of the same consistency.

Alkaline Salts Will Make Blotches on Brick Walls

White, crusty blotches that sometimes appear on brick and concrete walks are caused by efflorescence—alkaline salts working to the surface. Efflorescence can be removed with a wire brush and washing with a solution of one part muriatic acid in 10 parts of water. Wear rubber gloves and old clothes and protect your eyes. Rinse with clear water after two minutes to avoid pitting the surface.

Home Repair Dos—Don'ts

Straightening Warped Door

DO . . . keep a warped door out of service for at least a day—and probably longer—if you hope to do a good job of straightening it.

DO . . . remove the door from its hinges and place it across two sawhorses or other similar support.

DO . . . place the bulging side of the door face up, with the sawhorses under the ends.

DO . . . put heavy weights on the bulging part and leave them there for 24 hours.

DO . . . inspect the door after that period to see whether it is straight; if not, replace the weights until the straightening process takes place.

DON'T . . . be impatient if the warp proves stubborn; 3 or 4 days sometimes are needed.

DON'T . . . on the other hand, leave the weights on the door once it has been straightened, otherwise the door will bulge on the other side.

DON'T . . . fail to consider the possibility of giving added strength to the newly-straightened door by forcing 3 glued wooden dowels, into drilled holes in each end of the door.

DON'T . . . forget that a door warps because moisture has been absorbed by the wood, so be certain that all parts of the door, including edges and ends, are painted or varnished.

Hints for Refinishing Interior Woodwork

If you wish to refinish interior woodwork with a transparent coating similar to the type used on the surface before, clean the surface thoroughly, allow it to dry, then coat it with shellac or varnish. If the old finish is darkened with age or made overthick with many coatings, much better results can be obtained by removing the old finish with paint and varnish remover, sanding it and beginning again.

For a Woodland Corner

If you have a woodland corner in the garden plant the bedding daffodils in small colonies. The smaller bulbs can be had very cheaply.

Doorway Location Is Important in Kitchen

An important factor to consider in kitchen arrangement is the location of doorways. Time-and-motion tests indicate that most walking in the kitchen occurs between sink and door and between refrigerator and door. Fewer steps are necessary when sink and refrigerator are close to the dining room entrance.

Kurdt to Address Merchant Council

In recognition of the outstanding success of the courses in distributive education at the Kingston High School, Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, has been invited to speak on this subject at the annual convention of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants in Elmira Tuesday, Sept. 13.

The distributive education courses at the Kingston High School are under the supervision of Loryne Connick as teacher-coordinator and are recognized as outstanding throughout the state. Last May a state-wide conference of teacher-coordinators was held in Albany and attended by a panel of Kingstonians to outline how the program here functions and why it is so successful. The panel included Joseph Apa, manager of the Kinney Shoe Store, a student of KHS who majored in retailing; Clyde Wonderly, Jr., of the Wonderly Company; James Tobin, Guidance director of KHS and Albert Kurdt.

In reporting that he had been invited to tell the Kingston story at the state retailers convention Kurdt said that all phases of selling and consumer relations are becoming more and more important to the success of any business and suggested that more students consider selling as a vocation.

Two Vehicles Collide

One of two vehicles in collision at Washington avenue and Main street at 3:23 p. m., yesterday was towed from the scene, but no injuries were reported. Leonard Bard and Edward Berns, of 9 Andrew street, were listed as owners of the latter.

"This is no time to fool around with extra tricks," observed Pessimistic Pete as he studied the opening lead in today's hand. He then made sure of his contract by making a play that would go against the grain of most players.

West had opened the four of hearts, and Pete was declarer. Pete went right up with dummy's ace instead of letting the trick ride around for a free finesse.

Pete was right, of course, for the finesse was anything but free. Pete went after the clubs next, discovering that East had a sure trick in the suit. East took his club trick, but South had nine sure trucks: five clubs, two spades and the red aces.

Now see what happens if Pete incautiously plays a low heart from dummy at the first trick. East wins with the king of hearts and shifts immediately to the king of diamonds. South wins and goes after the clubs, discovering too late that the suit isn't going to break. Now East is bound to make a club, three diamonds and the king of hearts to set the contract.

It's quite true that South might recover by letting East win two or three diamond tricks instead of taking the ace of diamonds promptly. However, anybody who was optimistic enough to make the wrong play at the first trick (by playing a low heart from the dummy) would not suddenly change his character and refuse two or three diamond tricks.

There's another point to remember about putting up the ace of hearts at the first trick. If the clubs happen to break favorably, South can eventually set up a second heart trick for himself. Hence the correct play will cost nothing if the breaks are good and will save the contract if the breaks are bad.

Saugerties, Sept. 10—Albert J. Cawein, charter member and one of the original organizers, tendered his resignation as recording secretary of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company at the regular meeting of the company Thursday night in the West Camp firehouse.

Mr. Cawein, who reluctantly accepted the nomination for re-election in January to the office he held since the organization of the company submitted his formal resignation as follows:

"With deep regret I herewith tender my resignation as recording secretary of the company. Since the early part of the year I find that personal matters which require my undivided attention will not allow me to give the time a position of this importance needs in order to function properly.

"I wish to thank all the members who by their friendly attitude and cooperation for the good of the community, helped to make our company a working and vital force in our township."

One of the most active members of the company, he helped organize both the fire district and the fire company in the early days of October 1953. He still holds positions in such important committees as the by-laws committee, membership committee and the building committee.

In a special election, Edgar Smith Sr., of West Camp, who is both company historian and corresponding secretary, was designated to assume the position of recording secretary as well.

President William R. Wrolsen who presided reported that the clambake planned at the last regular meeting would not be held due to the inability of the committee to secure someone to conduct the affair for the firemen.

Tips Are Offered To GIs Who Plan Training in Fall

F. William Sheehan, officer in charge, Veterans Administration Contact Office, 286 Fair street, today gave three helpful tips to the thousands of veterans planning to start training this fall under the Korean GI Bill.

First, Sheehan said, GI application forms should be filled out and completely. An incomplete application can only cause delay, because VA will have to write to the veteran for the missing information.

SECOND, VETERANS should be sure they enclose a photostat or certified copy of their service separation paper, along with their completed application form. Without this paper, VA will be unable to act promptly on the application.

Third, applications should be sent to the veteran's nearest VA office, and not to VA headquarters in Washington, D. C. Any applications received in Washington will merely have to be referred to the appropriate regional office—a time-consuming process.

Sheehan said VA expects two-thirds of a million veterans to be in training this fall under the Korean GI Bill.

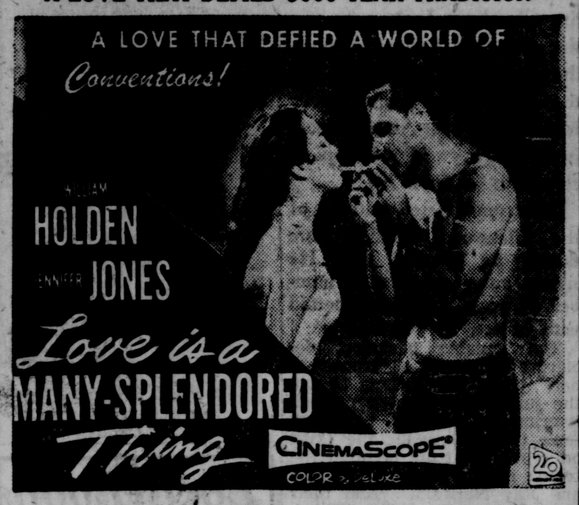

Thirty-two miles from Philadelphia, Pa., is Kennett Square, the greatest mushroom-growing center in the world.

Westrum Picks Indians To Win Junior Circuit, Dodgers to Take Series

Wes Westrum went "on the record" yesterday. The New York Giants' catcher predicted the Cleveland Indians to win the American League pennant, the Brooklyn Dodgers to win the World Series and Rocky Marciano to beat Archie Moore in their heavyweight championship bout on Sept. 20.

Westrum greeted patrons of the Glenwood Clothes store during its opening day. He signed autographs for a number of youngsters and chatted with others.

The amiable backstop, declaring he wasn't a "front-runner," chose the Indians to win the junior circuit pennant. Answering a question of many fans, (what's keeping the Tribe on top?) Westrum credited the team's relief pitchers, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski. "And their hitting is perking up," he added.

WES WESTRUM

WES GAVE no particular reason for picking the Dodgers to win the series. "I'm just a National League fan," he said.

On the boxing query, Wes decided the champion "will have too much power," for Moore.

Courteous and straightforward as always, Westrum discussed a number of baseball topics.

He declared that the injured third finger of his right hand would keep him out of action until next spring. A foul tip broke the digit some weeks ago, and it's still swollen.

However, Wes expects to be back behind the plate next spring. Only 32, he should have several more years in the "big show."

The Hyde Park resident by way of Clearbrook, Minn., credited former home run king Johnny Mize with the improvement in his hitting. Westrum had brought his usually-low average up approximately 20 points before being injured.

"JOHNNY INSTRUCTED me to close my stance and to keep my right elbow closer to my body," Wes said. "It worked."

Westrum also made these points:

The "banquet circuit" that most of the 1954 world champions traveled last winter didn't hurt them.

Willie Mays' early-season slump was "just one of those things that plague every batter. He's having another great year."

The Giants' fielding (the team is next to last among NL teams in this department) isn't helping Johnny Antonelli's pitching, which may be the reason the '54 phenom hasn't clicked.

The Giants did Sal Maglie a favor by trading him to the Indians, the latter team being very much a pennant contender.

To bolster team strength, the Giants need another outfielder and a second baseman, plus some good reserves.

The New Yorkers have two good pitchers coming up from their farm system.

The Dodgers' plethora of reserve strength, plus the comebacks of Don Newcombe and Roy Campanella, were the big factors in the Dodgers' winning of the pennant.

The idea that Newcombe's fine record was due to his finally getting in shape is "applesauce." Newk has "always been in good shape."

ELABORATING on Newcombe, Westrum said that the big fellow's 1955 success is rather difficult to explain. "The whole team's having a great year," Wes conceded, "which the Giants are not."

Newcombe hasn't added any new pitches to his repertory. Wes observed, however, that the Brooklyn star uses a changeup more often than in past seasons.

Queried about the Dodgers' apparent threats to move the team out of New York city, Westrum opined that he didn't think Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley was bluffing.

"I'm afraid Brooklyn is going to move if New York city doesn't find them another site for their ball park," he declared.

Westrum gingerly touched his injured finger. The movement brought into notice the diamond studded gold ring received by each of the Giants last year. "Pawning material," Wes quipped.

As might be expected of him, Westrum said the Giants would be in the thick of the pennant fight in 1956. And, as far as he can surmise, Leo Durocher will still be piloting the Jints. "He's a great manager," in Wes' book.

PITCHING — Joe Nuxhall, Redlegs, wrapped up his fifth shutout of the season in one hour, 44 minutes, giving just four hits, fanning five and walking only two for 16th victory in 5-0 decision over Giants.

BATTING—Joe Collins, Yankees, belted two home runs good for four RBIs while getting three-for-four in 5-4 victory over White Sox.

Local Loops Near Finish Of Season

Baseball and softball leagues in the city continue their respective final phases during the coming week.

The City Baseball League playoffs begin tomorrow at the Athletic Field, with the New York Panthers meeting Jones Dairy in the first of a best-of-three series. Game time is 1 o'clock.

Fraternal Youth League competition was scheduled today and tomorrow. The big battle in the FYL will be tomorrow at the Lower Hasbrouck diamond, where the league-leading Kiwanis Club and Volunteer Firemen clash. This one could decide the loop's pennant race.

The Kiwanis-Vols game will follow a 1 o'clock contest between the Rotary and Elks squads.

The City Softball League championship series between Perry's Rest and Rapp's Express continues Monday night. The Perry players have won the first two of the best-of-seven series. The game is at Block Park, beginning at 6 o'clock.

Shaughnessey playoffs in the American and National divisions of the softball circuit also continue Monday. The Hercules and Les Pommier teams meet at Lower Hasbrouck to decide the other National finalist. The Subway Grill has already clinched one final berth.

American division playoffs are set Tuesday. Chez Emile and the American Legion have a "rubber" game listed. Destroyer A. C. and Hilltop Rest squads collide in their second tilt. The Hilltoppers upset the former team in the initial meeting.

Davis Cup Stars Gain Semi-finals

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP) — Defending champion Vic Seixas met his young nemesis, Ken Rosewall, and top-seeded Tony Trabert went against Lew Hoad today in the semi-finals of the national tennis championship—the exact pairings of the Davis Cup challenge round two weeks ago.

In that one, the two 20-year-old Aussies won as they pleased. They may win again this time. No one can deny that they've both played brilliant tennis in their march to the penultimate round. But if they do, they certainly won't have it easy, for both the 32-year-old Seixas and powerhitting Trabert have been impressive too.

Trabert and Rosewall were the favorites to advance to the final when the tournament opened. It goes without saying that Tony has the best chance of the two Americans of coming out on top today.

He has the kind of game that can blow over anyone in the world. Furthermore, Hoad, as was the case yesterday when he gained his semi-final berth, has a tendency to forget the business at hand. He got past Sam Giammalva, 6-3, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 that way, but against Trabert he would have been a dead duck.

Trabert, for his part, never looked better in downing Herb Flam, an ex-gob from Beverly Hills, Calif., who was seeded eighth, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

TONY STUCK methodically to his assigned task, and was in command at all times. The best Flam could hope to do was postpone the inevitable. He managed to break Trabert's service in the final set once, but that represented his total offensive effort.

Hoad, on the other hand, had his troubles with Giammalva and for a time in the third set, it appeared that he might fold. The University of Texas junior has the equipment to cope with the lines of Hoad and Rosewall, but he needs experience. He has 16 months until the next challenge round in Australia to get it.

Seixas' chances against Rosewall certainly are not bright. The Mighty Mouse from the Anzacs has whipped Vic in 11 of their 13 duels.

Defending champion Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., meets Mrs. Dorothy Knode of Forest Hills and Barbara Breit of Hollywood, Calif., plays Pat Ward of England in the semi-finals of the women's division.

Little Miss Breit, just 17 years old and a year out of the girls' ranks, defeated Mrs. Beverly Fleitz, one of the home favorites, in the quarter-final, 8-6, 4-6, 6-0.

5 HVBL Squads To Open 1955-56 Season Tonight

Action in the Hudson Valley Bowling League gets underway tonight. Four of Kingston's five representatives are performing at the Bowlodrome.

The new Kingston team is sponsored by Tony's Pizzeria. Members of the quintet are Hal Broskie, Larry Weishaupt, George Shufeldt, Dick Howark and Jimmy Amendola.

At the Bowlodrome alleys, the "juvenile" Jones Dairy quintet squares off against the Forst Packers, while the Elston Sports Shop and Rapp's Express fives meet in another all-Kingston match.

The Jones-Forst and Elston-Rapp's matches will begin at 8 o'clock.

The new team will use the Central Recreation as its home alley. Entry of a fifth local team was made possible when the former Liberty Toro Power Mower squad dropped out of the circuit.

Van Wagenen Leads Jaycees With .617; Strikes Out 102

That rare combination, a good-hitting pitcher, was produced in the Jaycee Little League averages released today when Daniel Van Wagenen of the Wrens emerged with a fabulous .617 average, based on a minimum of 30 times at bat.

Van Wagenen was officially at bat 47 times, racked up 29 hits and scored 20 runs. He also powdered five home runs, one less than Don Hughes of the Crows who led the league in that department. His mound heroics were equally phenomenal as he won four, lost one and struck out 102 batters.

Hughes gained himself a .475 percentage in 59 official times at bat with 28 hits and scoring 23 runs.

Tom Ryan of the Eagles tied Hughes with a .475 average on 46 times at bat, collecting 21 hits.

Other batters in the charmed .400 circle were: Duane Van De Mark, .455; Jack Dekoskie, .447; Roger Wells, .431; Pete Coffey, .420 and John Chepeleff, .400.

Bill Reardon of the Crows was the league's best pitcher, going the season unscathed with five wins and no defeats. He fanned 63 batters. Hughes was 5-1 on the season, striking out 66.

Relief Game Ticket Sales Are at $200

More than $200 worth of tickets have been sold and many more are expected to be in demand at the gate when two softball teams from Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen, play at Dietz Stadium Sunday at 2 p. m. for the benefit of the fund to help recent flood victims. The game is open to the public.

It was announced at the Port Ewen plant yesterday that co-workers of the players are very enthusiastic about the game, because of rivalry between the two groups and the good cause for which they will play.

A club of well-known softballers, some of them vintage athletes, will meet the regular Hercules team that represents the explosives plant in the City League.

Haas Leading 'Cavalcade' Golf

Scotch Plains, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Freddie Haas led the field, trimmed to the low 90, into the third round of the $50,000 Cavalcade of Golf tournament today, running two strokes ahead of the crowd.

Haas fashioned his lead with some excellent putts yesterday, coming in with a three-under-par 67. That gave him 137 for the first 36 holes over the Shackamaxon Country Club course, which he toured in a par-matching 70 opening day.

Right on the heels of the Claremont, Calif., veteran was little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, who had a 70-69—139 after blowing for bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes yesterday. He was the only one in the runner-up spot as the tourney headed into the final two days.

Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Walker Inman, Jr., who were tied for the lead at the end of 18, fell back after 36. Furgol, 68-72—140, started the third round in a tie with Dick Mayer, 71-69—140, of St. Petersburg, Fla. Inman, 68-78—146, tumbled all the way out of the top 20.

Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the early favorite, had another tough round, and stood at 71-72—143 going into today's play. Sam missed six putts of less than 5 feet and took 35 putts for the second round.

Chicago, Boston in Danger Of Dropping Out of AL Race

BY ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

The first division isn't exactly cluttered up with dead bodies yet in that killing American League pennant race, but Chicago and Boston suddenly have taken on a frighteningly pale look.

After being struck down by first-place Cleveland and the second-place New York Yankees yesterday, the Red Sox and White Sox have reached the now-or-never point. With only 15 games remaining, Chicago is 3½ games out—and three games behind on the losing side.

Boston's in the same precarious spot—five full games behind and four games back in the lost column with 16 games remaining.

The Indians laid the Bostons low last night, clubbing three home runs to trip the Red Sox into a second straight defeat 3-1. New York, still trailing the Tribe by a half-game, shook up the White Sox 5-4 with Joe Collins' two homers belting Chicago to a second straight defeat.

Manager Marty Marion is confident his lefty ace, Billy Pierce, can tumble the Yanks today. It's practically a must if the White Sox hope to make any ground when they meet Boston in a doubleheader tomorrow while the Yanks and Indians slug it out in two.

THE SAME GOES for Boston in one last chance at the Indians today.

Al Smith, Ralph Kiner and Al Rosen — leading off the sixth, seventh and eighth innings with their homers — produced Bob Lemon's 17th victory, but relievers Ray Narleski and Don Mossi had to wrap it up. It was the veteran righthander's fourth straight victory — but also the 18th consecutive time he has failed to finish.

Ike DeLock was the loser, crumbling after holding the Tribe to two hits before Smith tore open the sixth inning.

Collins, who had been benched for weak hitting, gave the Yanks a four-run edge over the White Sox with his two clouts, but in the end it was Yogi Berra's double that did it.

All three of the big blows were off Dick Donovan, who lost his seventh against 14 victories and departed on Yogi's smack in the seventh. Don Larsen won his seventh, but lasted no longer than Donovan as the Chicago righthander touched off a three-run seventh inning with a two-out single.

DETROIT OFFICIALY fell from the AL race with an 8-3 defeat at Baltimore. Kansas City split with Washington, losing 6-5 and winning 7-6 although Roy Sievers tied the Senators' home run record he set last year with his 23rd and 24th circuit blows in the nightcap.

In the National, Brooklyn's champs staggered through a hectic doubleheader at Chicago after a pennant celebration the night before. The Cubs, who belted eight of the 13 homers in the twinbill, beat Don Newcombe in the opener 11-4, but lost the second 16-9. The Dodgers had just eight hits in the nightcap.

Milwaukee tightened its grip on second, beating Pittsburgh 3-1 on Del Crandall's two-run homer in the seventh. Joe Nuxhall won his 16th for Cincinnati by four-hitting New York 5-0 while Wally Post and Gus Bell homered for the Redlegs. And St. Louis, led by Solly Hemus' two triples that scored four runs, fractured Philadelphia 11-2.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—A rough-and-tumble scrimmage was on tap today for Cornell University's football squad.

Only 33 players were available for a similar set-to Thursday, but Coach Lefty James liked the way the boys went at it and ordered another session.

James' coaching staff said yesterday it was beginning to see some improvement in the line, where several experiments are being conducted.

Westrum Picks Indians To Win Junior Circuit, Dodgers to Take Series

Wes Westrum went "on the record" yesterday. The New York Giants' catcher predicted the Cleveland Indians to win the American League pennant, the Brooklyn Dodgers to win the World Series and Rocky Marciano to beat Archie Moore in their heavyweight championship bout on Sept. 20.

Westrum greeted patrons of the Glenwood Clothes store during its opening day. He signed autographs for a number of youngsters and chatted with others.

The amiable backstop, declaring he wasn't a "front-runner," chose the Indians to win the junior circuit pennant. Answering a question of many fans, (what's keeping the Tribe on top?) Westrum credited the team's relief pitchers, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski. "And their hitting is perking up," he added.

WES WESTRUM

WES GAVE no particular reason for picking the Dodgers to win the series. "I'm just a National League fan," he said.

On the boxing query, Wes decided the champion "will have too much power," for Moore.

Courteous and straightforward as always, Westrum discussed a number of baseball topics.

He declared that the injured third finger of his right hand would keep him out of action until next spring. A foul tip broke the digit some weeks ago, and it's still swollen.

However, Wes expects to be back behind the plate next spring. Only 32, he should have several more years in the "big show."

The Hyde Park resident by way of Clearbrook, Minn., credited former home run king Johnny Mize with the improvement in his hitting. Westrum had brought his usually-low average up approximately 20 points before being injured.

"JOHNNY INSTRUCTED me to close my stance and to keep my right elbow closer to my body," Wes said. "It worked."

Westrum also made these points:

The "banquet circuit" that most of the 1954 world champions traveled last winter didn't hurt them.

Willie Mays' early-season slump was "just one of those things that plague every batter. He's having another great year."

The Giants' fielding (the team is next to last among NL teams in this department) isn't helping Johnny Antonelli's pitching, which may be the reason the '54 phenom hasn't clicked.

The Giants did Sal Maglie a favor by trading him to the Indians, the latter team being very much a pennant contender.

To bolster team strength, the Giants need another outfielder and a second baseman, plus some good reserves.

The New Yorkers have two good pitchers coming up from their farm system.

The Dodgers' plethora of reserve strength, plus the comebacks of Don Newcombe and Roy Campanella, were the big factors in the Dodgers' winning of the pennant.

The idea that Newcombe's fine record was due to his finally getting in shape is "applesauce." Newk has "always been in good shape."

ELABORATING on Newcombe, Westrum said that the big fellow's 1955 success is rather difficult to explain. "The whole team's having a great year," Wes conceded, "which the Giants are not."

Newcombe hasn't added any new pitches to his repertory. Wes observed, however, that the Brooklyn star uses a changeup more often than in past seasons.

Queried about the Dodgers' apparent threats to move the team out of New York city, Westrum opined that he didn't think Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley was bluffing.

"I'm afraid Brooklyn is going to move if New York city doesn't find them another site for their ball park," he declared.

Westrum gingerly touched his injured finger. The movement brought into notice the diamond studded gold ring received by each of the Giants last year. "Pawning material," Wes quipped.

As might be expected of him, Westrum said the Giants would be in the thick of the pennant fight in 1956. And, as far as he can surmise, Leo Durocher will still be piloting the Jints. "He's a great manager," in Wes' book.

Local Loops Near Finish Of Season

Baseball and softball leagues in the city continue their respective final phases during the coming week.

The City Baseball League playoffs begin tomorrow at the Athletic Field, with the New York Panthers meeting Jones Dairy in the first of a best-of-three series. Game time is 1 o'clock.

Fraternal Youth League competition was scheduled today and tomorrow. The big battle in the FYL will be tomorrow at the Lower Hasbrouck diamond, where the league-leading Kiwanis Club and Volunteer Firemen clash. This one could decide the loop's pennant race.

The Kiwanis-Vols game will follow a 1 o'clock contest between the Rotary and Elks squads.

The City Softball League championship series between Perry's Rest and Rapp's Express continues Monday night. The Perry players have won the first two of the best-of-seven series. The game is at Block Park, beginning at 6 o'clock.

Shaughnessey playoffs in the American and National divisions of the softball circuit also continue Monday. The Hercules and Les Pommier teams meet at Lower Hasbrouck to decide the other National finalist. The Subway Grill has already clinched one final berth.

American division playoffs are set Tuesday. Chez Emile and the American Legion have a "rubber" game listed. Destroyer A. C. and Hilltop Rest squads collide in their second tilt. The Hilltoppers upset the former team in the initial meeting.

Davis Cup Stars Gain Semi-finals

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP) — Defending champion Vic Seixas met his young nemesis, Ken Rosewall, and top-seeded Tony Trabert went against Lew Hoad today in the semi-finals of the national tennis championship—the exact pairings of the Davis Cup challenge round two weeks ago.

In that one, the two 20-year-old Aussies won as they pleased. They may win again this time. No one can deny that they've both played brilliant tennis in their march to the penultimate round. But if they do, they certainly won't have it easy, for both the 32-year-old Seixas and powerhitting Trabert have been impressive too.

Trabert and Rosewall were the favorites to advance to the final when the tournament opened. It goes without saying that Tony has the best chance of the two Americans of coming out on top today.

He has the kind of game that can blow over anyone in the world. Furthermore, Hoad, as was the case yesterday when he gained his semi-final berth, has a tendency to forget the business at hand. He got past Sam Giammalva, 6-3, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 that way, but against Trabert he would have been a dead duck.

Trabert, for his part, never looked better in downing Herb Flam, an ex-gob from Beverly Hills, Calif., who was seeded eighth, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

TONY STUCK methodically to his assigned task, and was in command at all times. The best Flam could hope to do was postpone the inevitable. He managed to break Trabert's service in the final set once, but that represented his total offensive effort.

Hoad, on the other hand, had his troubles with Giammalva and for a time in the third set, it appeared that he might fold. The University of Texas junior has the equipment to cope with the lines of Hoad and Rosewall, but he needs experience. He has 16 months until the next challenge round in Australia to get it.

Seixas' chances against Rosewall certainly are not bright. The Mighty Mouse from the Anzacs has whipped Vic in 11 of their 13 duels.

Defending champion Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., meets Mrs. Dorothy Knode of Forest Hills and Barbara Breit of Hollywood, Calif., plays Pat Ward of England in the semi-finals of the women's division.

Little Miss Breit, just 17 years old and a year out of the girls' ranks, defeated Mrs. Beverly Fleitz, one of the home favorites, in the quarter-final, 8-6, 4-6, 6-0.

5 HVBL Squads To Open 1955-56 Season Tonight

Action in the Hudson Valley Bowling League gets underway tonight. Four of Kingston's five representatives are performing at the Bowlodrome.

The new Kingston team is sponsored by Tony's Pizzeria. Members of the quintet are Hal Broskie, Larry Weishaupt, George Shufeldt, Dick Howark and Jimmy Amendola.

At the Bowlodrome alleys, the "juvenile" Jones Dairy quintet squares off against the Forst Packers, while the Elston Sports Shop and Rapp's Express fives meet in another all-Kingston match.

The Jones-Forst and Elston-Rapp's matches will begin at 8 o'clock.

The new team will use the Central Recreation as its home alley. Entry of a fifth local team was made possible when the former Liberty Toro Power Mower squad dropped out of the circuit.

Van Wagenen Leads Jaycees With .617; Strikes Out 102

That rare combination, a good-hitting pitcher, was produced in the Jaycee Little League averages released today when Daniel Van Wagenen of the Wrens emerged with a fabulous .617 average, based on a minimum of 30 times at bat.

Van Wagenen was officially at bat 47 times, racked up 29 hits and scored 20 runs. He also powdered five home runs, one less than Don Hughes of the Crows who led the league in that department. His mound heroics were equally phenomenal as he won four, lost one and struck out 102 batters.

Hughes gained himself a .475 percentage in 59 official times at bat with 28 hits and scoring 23 runs.

Tom Ryan of the Eagles tied Hughes with a .475 average on 46 times at bat, collecting 21 hits.

Other batters in the charmed .400 circle were: Duane Van De Mark, .455; Jack Dekoskie, .447; Roger Wells, .431; Pete Coffey, .420 and John Chepeleff, .400.

Bill Reardon of the Crows was the league's best pitcher, going the season unscathed with five wins and no defeats. He fanned 63 batters. Hughes was 5-1 on the season, striking out 66.

Relief Game Ticket Sales Are at $200

More than $200 worth of tickets have been sold and many more are expected to be in demand at the gate when two softball teams from Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen, play at Dietz Stadium Sunday at 2 p. m. for the benefit of the fund to help recent flood victims. The game is open to the public.

It was announced at the Port Ewen plant yesterday that co-workers of the players are very enthusiastic about the game, because of rivalry between the two groups and the good cause for which they will play.

A club of well-known softballers, some of them vintage athletes, will meet the regular Hercules team that represents the explosives plant in the City League.

Haas Leading 'Cavalcade' Golf

Scotch Plains, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Freddie Haas led the field, trimmed to the low 90, into the third round of the $50,000 Cavalcade of Golf tournament today, running two strokes ahead of the crowd.

Haas fashioned his lead with some excellent putts yesterday, coming in with a three-under-par 67. That gave him 137 for the first 36 holes over the Shackamaxon Country Club course, which he toured in a par-matching 70 opening day.

Right on the heels of the Claremont, Calif., veteran was little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, who had a 70-69—139 after blowing for bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes yesterday. He was the only one in the runner-up spot as the tourney headed into the final two days.

Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Walker Inman, Jr., who were tied for the lead at the end of 18, fell back after 36. Furgol, 68-72—140, started the third round in a tie with Dick Mayer, 71-69—140, of St. Petersburg, Fla. Inman, 68-78—146, tumbled all the way out of the top 20.

Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the early favorite, had another tough round, and stood at 71-72—143 going into today's play. Sam missed six putts of less than 5 feet and took 35 putts for the second round.

POUNDING OUT A PUNCH LINE: Carmine Fiore, of Brooklyn, a ranking welterweight contender paid a visit to the Freeman sports department and took a look at things from a sportswriter's angle. Looking on while Carmine turned out his first piece of copy were, l to r: Rocky Lattanzio, former amateur boxer and sparring partner; Dick McCarthy and Al Cawein, of Freeman editorial staff; Vincent Nicolosi, of Kingston, Fiore's host during a week's stay in the city and Irwin J. Thomas, assistant city editor of the Freeman. (Freeman Photo).

Chicago, Boston in Danger Of Dropping Out of AL Race

BY ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

The first division isn't exactly cluttered up with dead bodies yet in that killing American League pennant race, but Chicago and Boston suddenly have taken on a frighteningly pale look.

After being struck down by first-place Cleveland and the second-place New York Yankees yesterday, the Red Sox and White Sox have reached the now-or-never point. With only 15 games remaining, Chicago is 3½ games out—and three games behind on the losing side.

Boston's in the same precarious spot—five full games behind and four games back in the lost column with 16 games remaining.

The Indians laid the Bostons low last night, clubbing three home runs to trip the Red Sox into a second straight defeat 3-1. New York, still trailing the Tribe by a half-game, shook up the White Sox 5-4 with Joe Collins' two homers belting Chicago to a second straight defeat.

Manager Marty Marion is confident his lefty ace, Billy Pierce, can tumble the Yanks today. It's practically a must if the White Sox hope to make any ground when they meet Boston in a doubleheader tomorrow while the Yanks and Indians slug it out in two.

THE SAME GOES for Boston in one last chance at the Indians today.

Al Smith, Ralph Kiner and Al Rosen — leading off the sixth, seventh and eighth innings with their homers — produced Bob Lemon's 17th victory, but relievers Ray Narleski and Don Mossi had to wrap it up. It was the veteran righthander's fourth straight victory — but also the 18th consecutive time he has failed to finish.

Ike DeLock was the loser, crumbling after holding the Tribe to two hits before Smith tore open the sixth inning.

Collins, who had been benched for weak hitting, gave the Yanks a four-run edge over the White Sox with his two clouts, but in the end it was Yogi Berra's double that did it.

All three of the big blows were off Dick Donovan, who lost his seventh against 14 victories and departed on Yogi's smack in the seventh. Don Larsen won his seventh, but lasted no longer than Donovan as the Chicago righthander touched off a three-run seventh inning with a two-out single.

DETROIT OFFICIALY fell from the AL race with an 8-3 defeat at Baltimore. Kansas City split with Washington, losing 6-5 and winning 7-6 although Roy Sievers tied the Senators' home run record he set last year with his 23rd and 24th circuit blows in the nightcap.

In the National, Brooklyn's champs staggered through a hectic doubleheader at Chicago after a pennant celebration the night before. The Cubs, who belted eight of the 13 homers in the twinbill, beat Don Newcombe in the opener 11-4, but lost the second 16-9. The Dodgers had just eight hits in the nightcap.

Milwaukee tightened its grip on second, beating Pittsburgh 3-1 on Del Crandall's two-run homer in the seventh. Joe Nuxhall won his 16th for Cincinnati by four-hitting New York 5-0 while Wally Post and Gus Bell homered for the Redlegs. And St. Louis, led by Solly Hemus' two triples that scored four runs, fractured Philadelphia 11-2.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—A rough-and-tumble scrimmage was on tap today for Cornell University's football squad.

Only 33 players were available for a similar set-to Thursday, but Coach Lefty James liked the way the boys went at it and ordered another session.

James' coaching staff said yesterday it was beginning to see some improvement in the line, where several experiments are being conducted.

Restaurateurs Clambake Has 400 Reservations

More than 400 reservations have already been received for the charity clambake sponsored by the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc., which will be held Monday, Sept. 12, at Spindler's Resort Hotel, Maple Hill, according to Emile Jordan, chairman.

The heavy reservation list indicates that this year's event will be one of the biggest in the history of the organization, Mr. Jordan said.

He said the success of these bakes is attributable to the fact that persons can be served immediately upon arrival anytime between 1 and 6 p. m. There are 38 items included in the bake and diners can eat all of them or as much as they desire whenever they choose.

GAMES, SWIMMING, entertainment and dancing are also included in the day's event which will be attended by hotel and restaurant men from Dutchess, Delaware, Greene, Orange and Ulster counties.

At its recent meeting held at Tony's Pizzeria, 582 Broadway, the committee discussed various charities to which the proceeds would be donated.

Consideration was also given to donating the entire proceeds to flood relief in the Rosendale areas. Mr. Jordan said there would be further discussion of this proposal at the next meeting.

Clambake patrons were urged to arrive early in order to enjoy the full day's outing.

Calls Waterway Aid

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 10 (AP)—New York state's commerce commissioner visualizes direct shipments of iron ore from New York city to eastern Canada via a proposed deep waterway linking Lake Champlain with the St. Lawrence river. Edward T. Dickinson, speaking yesterday at the annual meeting of the New York-Vermont Commission on the Lake Champlain Basin, said such a waterway would benefit the economies of both states. Dickinson predicted there would be sufficient return cargoes to allow ships to make the New York-Canada trip fully loaded both ways.

Kiwanis Briefed On Picture Shots For Video Screen

The Kiwanis Club got the lowdown on what makes pictures on a television screen at its weekly meeting Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The speaker was Marvin Craft, teacher of electronics at Kingston High School, who simplified the subject as much as possible in the 20 minutes allotted him but still left Kiwanians in some perplexity.

THE VITAL operation takes place within the television tube, Mr. Craft pointed out. It goes something like this:

Inside the tube is an "electron gun," the most important part of the tube. This "gun" is a kind of heating element which heats a piece of metal called a cathode, coated with thorium, barium or a combination of the two.

This coating gives off electrons which are controlled by a grid (wire mesh). The flow of electronics can be speeded up with a positive charge, which drives them rapidly, or slowed down with a negative charge.

THE ACTIVITY of the electrons is further intensified by charges of electricity (25,000 volts) which activate the electrons to the speed of light and sends an electronic beam as "big around" as the point of a pin against the television screen.

When the beam strikes the screen it gives up energy which, in the act of losing energy, produces light.

For ordinary purposes 525 "lines of light" are produced by the electronic beam. A total of 15,725 lines of light per second appears on the picture tube, producing 30 frames (pictures) per second.

Mr. Craft was introduced by Robert McMillan, chairman of the program committee. Herman Schwenk, president of Kingston Kiwanis, presided.

Patrick Kelly of Inwood, L. I., one of several new property owners here, is spending a few days in town. Patrick has had Robert Winnie, local welder, make him a trailer truck which he will employ in building a summer home on his building lot south of the old state road.

John Buck, Jr., War 2 veteran, and small son, Michael, were recent Shokan callers. John reports no damage done by the flood at the Buck housing development in St. Remy area.

Restaurateurs Clambake Has 400 Reservations

More than 400 reservations have already been received for the charity clambake sponsored by the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc., which will be held Monday, Sept. 12, at Spindler's Resort Hotel, Maple Hill, according to Emile Jordan, chairman.

The heavy reservation list indicates that this year's event will be one of the biggest in the history of the organization, Mr. Jordan said.

He said the success of these bakes is attributable to the fact that persons can be served immediately upon arrival anytime between 1 and 6 p. m. There are 38 items included in the bake and diners can eat all of them or as much as they desire whenever they choose.

GAMES, SWIMMING, entertainment and dancing are also included in the day's event which will be attended by hotel and restaurant men from Dutchess, Delaware, Greene, Orange and Ulster counties.

At its recent meeting held at Tony's Pizzeria, 582 Broadway, the committee discussed various charities to which the proceeds would be donated.

Consideration was also given to donating the entire proceeds to flood relief in the Rosendale areas. Mr. Jordan said there would be further discussion of this proposal at the next meeting.

Clambake patrons were urged to arrive early in order to enjoy the full day's outing.

Kiwanis Briefed On Picture Shots For Video Screen

The Kiwanis Club got the lowdown on what makes pictures on a television screen at its weekly meeting Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The speaker was Marvin Craft, teacher of electronics at Kingston High School, who simplified the subject as much as possible in the 20 minutes allotted him but still left Kiwanians in some perplexity.

THE VITAL operation takes place within the television tube, Mr. Craft pointed out. It goes something like this:

Inside the tube is an "electron gun," the most important part of the tube. This "gun" is a kind of heating element which heats a piece of metal called a cathode, coated with thorium, barium or a combination of the two.

This coating gives off electrons which are controlled by a grid (wire mesh). The flow of electronics can be speeded up with a positive charge, which drives them rapidly, or slowed down with a negative charge.

THE ACTIVITY of the electrons is further intensified by charges of electricity (25,000 volts) which activate the electrons to the speed of light and sends an electronic beam as "big around" as the point of a pin against the television screen.

When the beam strikes the screen it gives up energy which, in the act of losing energy, produces light.

For ordinary purposes 525 "lines of light" are produced by the electronic beam. A total of 15,725 lines of light per second appears on the picture tube, producing 30 frames (pictures) per second.

Mr. Craft was introduced by Robert McMillan, chairman of the program committee. Herman Schwenk, president of Kingston Kiwanis, presided.
